New York Naval Shipyard Sesqui-Centennial (1801-1951)

BY REAR ADM. P. B. NIBECKER, USN
Commander, New York Naval Shipyard

WHEN the mighty aircraft carrier, USS Oriskany, was commissioned on 25 Sept. 1950, a fitting climax was reached in the history of the New York Naval Shipyard's One Hundred and Fifty years of Service to the Fleet. Equipped to launch and retrieve the newest types of jet plans and incorporating the latest advances in modern push-button warfare, the Oriskany, more than any other ship, symbolizes the progress of the Shipyard since the completion in 1820 of the 74-gun frigate, USS Ohio.

Rear Adm. Nibecker

It all began on 23 Feb. 1801 when a parcel of 42 acres of land was purchased from John Jackson, a shipbuilder, for $40,000. At that time, the Shipyard consisted of a few ramshackled buildings used to house the wooden sailing vessels during construction, a sluggish pond called the "timber pond" where the oak beams and planking were aged and seasoned, and a muddy island on which a storage pier had been built.

The Shipyard played its first important role during the War of 1812, when it fitted out more than 100 ships. Following the War of 1812, the United States enjoyed almost 47 years of peace, interrupted only briefly by the Mexican War. Only ten vessels were built in the Yard during this period. The first of these was the 74-gun frigate, Ohio, which was the largest ship built in the United States up to that time. The Ohio, launched in 1820, was looked upon then as the equivalent of a capital ship of today, and was famed for its sailing qualities.

Besides constructing ten new ships during this period, the Shipyard was kept busy servicing the fleet during the Mexican War, the War with Tripoli and the campaign against the Bey of Algiers who at that time was demanding heavy tribute from merchantmen entering Mediterranean waters.

With the advent of the Civil War, the Shipyard was further expanded to meet the needs of the Northern Navy in the conflict between North and South. By this time, the first drydock had been added to the Yard facilities. This was a dock of solid granite which rested on a nest of wooden piles, started in 1841 and completed ten years later at a cost of $2,000,000. This dock, the smallest in the

Army Selects 2,071, Only 35 Pass-Overs

The Army this week released the names of 2,071 Regular officers selected for promotion to the permanent ranks of lieutenant colonel (586), major (909) and captain (576), with only 35 pass-overs recorded—probably the lowest ratio of promotion deferments in recent Army history.

The selections will not become official until their confirmation by the Senate and there was no definite word late this week when the actual promotions would be made, whether all at once or spread out over a number of months.

However, it was noted that in each case the selection board considered all officers declared eligible under criteria announced last August.

Only 9 officers failed of selection for a second consecutive time, spelling elimination from active duty unless special provisions are made as a result of the national emergency for their retention. Deferred for a second time were six permanent majors, two permanent captains and one permanent first lieutenant.

Passed-over for the first time were five permanent majors, 12 permanent captains and nine permanent first lieutenants.

The Army said that recommended lists of Army Medical Service officers will be released upon the completion of professional examinations by officers serving in Korea.

At the same time that the 2,071 new selections were reported, Army officials gave out the names of permanent first lieutenants of the Judge Advocate General's Corps selected for permanent promotion to captain. These names were published in the 28 Oct. issue of THE

Ship Program Nears Final Congress Vote

Final Congressional action on legislation which would authorize Navy construction of 140 major new vessels of 500,000 tons and conversion of another 292 ships at a total cost of $382,000,000 loomed this week as a Senate Armed Services subcommittee reported favorably a measure already approved by the House of Representatives.

As emphasized in the Senate subcommittee's report, major stress will be placed on the improvement of aircraft carriers and the development of vessels to meet the problems of anti-submarine warfare and mine sweeping—the latter concern dramatized by naval operations in Korean waters.

The most-discussed single item in the program is the authority for constructing a new type of carrier, a larger and more modern version of the 45,000-ton Midway class.

"This carrier," the Senate subcommittee noted, "is designed to permit the operation of modern aircraft carrying very heavy bomb loads. It will be a prototype vessel and after service tests will permit the Navy to build additional vessels of the same type if the need for such craft is indicated."

"The carrier," the report continues, "will have increased catapult and arresting equipment, larger elevators and higher deck overhead in order to accommodate larger and faster planes. It will also carry additional protection and in every way is designed to meet the requirements of modern warfare."

The subcommittee report observed that construction of the carrier, which will replace the economy-doomed USS United States, whose construction was halted after the keel had been laid, was recom-

AF Promotion Plans Revealed—All Ranks

There was important promotion news for Air Force officers of all ranks this week, highlighted by these developments:

1. Announcement was made that a central selection board would be convened at USAF Headquarters on or about 12 March to name Regular lieutenants for permanent promotion to the rank of captain.

2. First reports from major commands were received listing Regular and Reserve officers named for temporary promotion to the rank of major.

3. Release was expected momentarily of the list of Regular and Reserve officers named for temporary promotion to the rank of lieutenant colonel by a central board, which has adjourned at the Pentagon.

4. In addition to the forthcoming selections for permanent advancement to the rank of captain, the Air Force said that additional boards will meet to consider officers for permanent promotion as follows: to Colonel, May; General Officers (also temporary), June; Lieutenant Colonel, September; and Major, November.

5. Release was made of the third list of Regular and Reserve first lieutenants receiving temporary promotions to captain—a total of 1841 names, which begin on page 676.

6. Reported by the Air Force was a decision to abandon the "best qualified" method of selection for permanent promotions to major and lieutenant colonel in favor of the more liberal "fully qualified" system. This is certain to cut down the relatively high rate of pass-overs in the Air Force.

Here are the details concerning these officer promotion developments, as reported by officials at USAF Headquarters and by major commands.

The board which will consider officers for permanent promotion to the rank of captain will examine the records of approximately 1,100 officers declared eligible according to criteria disclosed this week. The fully qualified method of selection will be used. The eligibles will include all permanent first lieutenants, not on present recommended lists, who will have completed seven years of promotion list service by 1 July 1952.

For the various promotion lists, the zone of consideration will extend through the following officers:

USAF—Connolly, James J., 17069A.
Medical—Baird, Glenn D., 20845A.
Dental—Hemphill, Charles B., 19620A.
Veterinary—Neurauter, Lloyd J., 19011A.
Medical Service—Hunter, John H., 19530A.
Nurses—Lazaro, Amalia R., 21140W.
Women's Medical Specialist—Narancho, Delores M. W., 21190W.
Chaplains—Wakefield, Charles W., 20852A.

New York Herald Tribune—"The U. N. units may be unable to move farther north, or even be forced into another withdrawal. If they should prove victorious, it would certainly not be wise to announce to the enemy command that it can play a kind of military tag—strike its blow and then shout 'home free' as it crosses the (38th) parallel in defeat. The U. N. must be primarily concerned with the success of its arms in the present battle. When that has been decided, one way or another, long-range plans can be debated in the light of the results."

Washington, D. C., Star—"It is highly desirable that the Congress, or at least the Senate, should approve in advance the principle of sending American troops to Europe. . . . The proper Congressional function, however, is to act on the principle, not to prescribe the details of how it shall be carried into effect. . . . General Eisenhower has been entrusted with that responsibility and he should not now be asked to don a legislative strait-jacket before discharging it."

Washington, D. C., News—"The American forces and their supporting allies are doing very well in the circumstances. But they are fighting under wraps and there is little apparent hope that the campaign can be successfully concluded so long as the statesmen at Lake Success are unwilling to authorize air attacks against the enemy's home bases of supplies and reinforcements."

Washington, D. C., Post—"As more than one military leader has said, the purpose of the present tactical maneuvering (in Korea) is to inflict losses, with the view, presumably of softening the intransigence of the Peking regime. Doubtless this can be kept up for considerable time, though at by no means negligible expense to the U. N. forces in terms of their own casualties. As this is far from the original purpose of the U. N. intervention, General MacArthur is thus right in calling for a new definition by the United Nations of objectives in Korea. A war of attrition leads nowhere, and the best of the United States Army is still pinned down with its brothers in arms in a thankless task."

New York Times—"It is evident that progress is being made toward strengthening Western democracy, and that there is no reason either to despair or to forego the aid of both its resources and its manpower in anticipation of a war which determined action on our part can help greatly to prevent."

THE WAR IN KOREA

IN Central Korea Chinese Communists this week launched a heavy counter-attack in great strength against South Korean units and elements of the American X Corps. The Reds recaptured Hoensong and drove Allied troops back a total of about 18 miles before the thrust was halted.

Late this week there was heavy fighting in the Chipyeong-ni area of the central front, where the enemy made two strong night assaults on our lines. Pressure was heavy against all sides of the defensive perimeter. Allied reinforcements broke through enemy lines and halted the enemy drive.

In the attack on the central front the Chinese Communists suffered extremely heavy casualties from ground and air attacks. Two enemy divisions sustained such heavy losses as to have been practically eliminated as organized fighting units, and two others were seriously crippled by casualties. On Wednesday, 14 Feb., enemy casualties inflicted by Allied ground forces alone were estimated for that one day at 10,593, mostly on the central front.

On that same day the American 3d Division in the western sector accounted for an estimated 1,338 enemy dead and 362 prisoners of war captured. On the basis of this report the ratio of killed in action on the 3d Division front was 138 enemy dead for every United Nations soldier killed.

A command raid was made this week by South Korean marines at the enemy-held port of Wonsan, well north of the 38th parallel. South Koreans seized two islands in the harbor and penetrated into the city under cover of naval gunfire from Allied warships.

Previously Eighth Army troops moving north and west in Western Korea took the port of Inchon, and the important Kimpo airfield, and sent patrols into the outskirts of the ruined city of Seoul, capital of the Korean republic.

A force of 1,100 North Korean Communists crossed the ice-covered Han River and attacked American troops on the south bank. The advance of some enemy elements was masked by a shield of civilians, who dropped to the ground at a signal from the attackers. Enemy troops were cut to pieces by a Puerto Rican regiment and other units of the American 3d Division. More than half of the Red soldiers were killed or wounded. The remainder fled back across the river.

Some units of the South Korean Capital Division on the east coast advanced nearly to the 38th parallel, where they encountered a strong enemy force and withdrew. First reports indicated that the South Koreans had crossed the parallel, which caused some concern in England, where Prime Minister Clement Attlee told the House of Commons that Allied troops should not cross the parallel, which was the old boundary between North and South Korea, without first consulting other nations having troops in Korea.

It is understood, however, that there is general agreement that in the course of military operations there may be minor patrol penetrations north of the parallel, without violating the general principle of no invasion of North Korea, prior to consultation. Apparently there is no objection to a continuance of naval and air operations north of the parallel, and the landing of South Korean marines may be considered as incidental to naval action.

General Douglas MacArthur, commander-in-chief of the United Nations forces, who visited the western front this week, said "talk of crossing the 38th parallel at the present stage of the campaign, except by scattered patrol action incidental to the tactical situation, is purely academic." General MacArthur's comments follow:

"What the future has in store in Korea continues to be largely dependent upon international considerations, and decisions not yet known here. Meanwhile, the command is doing everything that could reasonably be expected of it. Our field strategy, initiated upon Communist China's entry into the war, involving a rapid withdrawal to lengthen the enemy's supply lines, with resultant pyramiding of his logistical difficulties, and an almost astronomical increase in the destructiveness of our air power, has worked well.

"In the development of this strategy the Eighth Army has achieved local tactical successes through maximum exploitation of the air massive blows on extended enemy concentrations and supplies, but in the evaluation of these successes sight must not be lost of the enemy's remaining potent reinforcement and re-supply. We must not fall into the error of evaluating such tactical successes as decisively leading to the enemy's defeat just as many erred in assessing our strategic withdrawals in the face of Communist China's commitment to war as a decisive defeat inflicted upon us.

"We are still engaged in a war of maneuver with the object of inflicting as heavy a punishment upon the enemy as possible, striving constantly to keep him off balance, to prevent his obtaining and holding the tactical initiative, while at the same time avoiding the hazards inherent in his numerical superiority. The concept advanced by some that we should establish a line across Korea and enter into positional warfare is wholly unrealistic and illusory. It fails completely to take into account the length of such a line at the narrowest lateral, the rugged terrain which is involved, and the relatively small force which could be committed to the purpose. The attempt to engage in such strategy would insure destruction of our forces piecemeal.

"Talk of crossing the 38th parallel at the present stage of the campaign, except by scattered patrol action incidental to the tactical situation, is purely academic. From a military standpoint we must materially reduce the existing superiority of our Chinese Communist enemy, engaging with impunity in undeclared war against us, with the unprecedented military advantage of sanctuary protection for his military potential against our counterattack upon Chinese soil, before we can seriously consider conducting major operations north of that geographic line.

"Meanwhile, however, the complete coordination of our land, sea and air forces, and the consequent smooth synchronization of their combined operations, with each arm contributing its full part, continues to inflict terrific losses upon the enemy. General Ridgway is proving himself a brilliant and worthy successor to General Walker in command of the 8th Army, and with Admiral Struble in command of the fleet and General Partridge in command of the air, comprise an ideal trio of field commanders."

On the western front the limited Allied offensive, which began on 25 Jan., gained a total of 35 miles in three weeks, and, of much more importance, inflicted a total of well over 80,000 casualties on the enemy. The capture of the harbor of Inchon and the Kimpo airfield greatly facilitated the supply and reinforcement of our forward elements in the western sector.

When tank-led American ground troops entered Inchon from the east they encountered practically no enemy opposition, other than that provided by extensive mine fields, which were methodically eliminated.

Similarly Allied units which took the Kimpo airfield found almost no enemy resistance. The installations at the airfield had been destroyed by the Allies early last month when they abandoned it, and there were no indications that the enemy had attempted to use the field.

South Korean patrols entering Seoul were driven back by heavy enemy resistance. Apparently the defenders of Seoul were largely North Koreans, many of the Chinese Reds having side-slipped through the mountains to the east, where they mounted a heavy local offensive on the central front.

Early last Monday elements of three Communist armies and two North Korean corps launched a strong counter-attack against two South Korean divisions north and northwest of Hoensong on the central front. The enemy assault gained momentum during the day, forcing the South Koreans to give considerable ground.

American and Dutch units sent to the aid of the South Koreans succeeded in slowing the enemy drive. However, one South Korean regiment and two American battalions were surrounded by the enemy and temporarily cut off. After fierce fighting the Allied troops succeeded in breaking through to our lines. A Netherlands battalion formed the rear guard of the withdrawing troops, and fought a gallant delaying action in which the commander of the Dutch troops was killed by Chinese troops in South Korean uniforms.

The town of Hoensong was abandoned to the enemy and Allied troops withdrew to the vicinity of Wonju, about 18 miles south of the area in which the initial assault occurred. A follow-up attack of the enemy ran into heavy artillery fire and air attacks, resulting in extremely heavy enemy losses. In this sector our troops occupy strong defensive positions and Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, commanding the X Corps, said the situation was no longer critical.

Later this week the battle shifted to Chipyeong-ni, the western anchor of the central front, which commands a lateral highway across the peninsula. The Chinese Reds in great force attacked our positions near this town in the early hours of Wednesday morning, accompanying the attacks with wailing noises from whistles, bugles and drums, as well as shouts and chants of the attackers. Heavy action was still in progress in this area late this week but Allied reinforcements had stopped the enemy advance.

In this attack the enemy employed small arms, automatic weapons, mortars and artillery. Exceptionally heavy enemy casualties were reported, with great numbers of Chinese dead piled up in front of our positions.

It was announced in Korea this week that Maj. Gen. Bryant E. Moore, previously in command of the VI Corps in the United States, had succeeded Lt. Gen. John B. Coulter in command of the IX Corps on the western front in Korea. General Coulter's new assignment has not been announced.

Maj. Gen. Charles D. Palmer succeeded Maj. Gen. Hobart R. Gay in command of the 1st Cavalry Division in Korea. General Gay will become Deputy Commander of the Fourth Army at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

During the week Air Force and Navy flyers found ample targets on the roads leading to the battle front, particularly in Central Korea. In their haste to move supplies and reinforcements to support their heavy counter-attack on the central front the Communists filled the roads, day and night, with vehicular traffic and marching troops.

With excellent weather and good visibility Allied planes were able to make a record bag of enemy trucks and troop concentrations. United Nations aircraft of all types ranged all along the communications corridors, directing a murderous rain of napalm and other bombs on Communist truck convoys, supply trains and transportation facilities.

It was reported that the Air Force had developed a new technique, the nature of which was undisclosed, whereby our planes are now able to find and attack truck convoys in their hideouts during the daytime, regardless of camouflage. It was also reported that a new and better napalm bomb has been developed, which is smaller and more effective than the type previously used.

There was little enemy air activity this week. One flight of hostile MIG-15s flew over a formation of American fighter planes near the Manchurian border, but failed to attack. Seven enemy jet fighters futilely attacked a flight of American B-29 medium bombers making a bomb run over Red barracks at Takchon in north central Korea. None of our planes was hit. Enemy planes dropped several small bombs at night on Allied territory, 13 miles south of Seoul. There was no report of damage or casualties.

Air observers reported heavy enemy troop movements just north of the area of the enemy counter-offensive in Central Korea. A large troop movement, estimated at about a division, was observed six miles northwest of Wonju. These Red troops were taken under heavy air and artillery fire.

Just north of Hoensong a concentrated Allied air attack destroyed 240 vehicles and damaged 145 others. Enemy troops attempting to deploy in the battle zone, in many instances, were dispersed by rockets and machinegun fire of Allied fighter-bombers, and by blazing napalm tanks.

Six enemy tanks, two near Seoul and the other four moving to the front in the Hwachon area, were reported destroyed by Air Force planes. Thirteen other enemy tanks were reported damaged by Navy planes. This is the largest number of enemy tanks observed in recent weeks. Ten highway bridges in the battle zone were destroyed or damaged.

Twenty-two American B-26 light bombers hit the enemy radio communications center at Korangso-ri, north of Seoul and east of Kaesong. Four antenna towers were knocked down, and 55 enemy-occupied buildings were destroyed or damaged. Large fires were started and heavy troop casualties inflicted. It is estimated

N. Y. Shipyard

Shipyard today, but considered large when built, is still in use today—100 years later.

During the Civil War period, 16 fighting vessels were completed and 416 merchant ships purchased and fitted out to roam the seas as armed cruisers. At the peak of activity, 6,000 men were employed in the Shipyard and the annual payroll was almost $4,000,000.

When the Maine, built and launched in New York, was blown up in Havana Harbor, 15 Feb. 1898, added impetus was given to the development of the Shipyard. Although the Shipyard did not construct new vessels during the Spanish-American War, it once more became one of the nation's chief naval workshops for repair and outfitting of warships.

World War I

With the approach of World War I, the Shipyard could boast of four drydocks, new and larger shops, more piers, increased railroad trackage and equipment, additional cranes, two large building ways and a large variety of machinery and facilities which made it one of the largest shipyards in the world.

During 1914-1918, the workload assigned to the Shipyard required employment of 18,000 civilians. In addition to the construction of 40 submarine chasers, the reconditioning of a great number of former German commercial vessels and the usual repair activity, the Battleships Arizona, New Mexico and Tennessee were launched during this period.

In Between the Wars

During the ten years following the launching of the Tennessee in 1919, a building holiday was in effect as a result of the Washington Naval Armament Limitation Treaty, signed in 1922. The South Dakota and Indiana, begun in 1920 and over 35 per cent completed, were cut to pieces and sold as scrap. In 1922, the Yard work force dropped to 3,500 employees.

With the beginning of new war clouds in the early thirties, it became apparent that the Shipyard was going into business again. When Franklin D. Roosevelt took office, he immediately initiated a program designed to restore United States naval power. Between 1934 and 1938, the New York Naval Shipyard completed two destroyers, one gunboat, two large Coast Guard cutters and three 10,000-ton light cruisers.

A new era in construction of modern battleships was begun with the laying of the keel of the 35,000-ton battleship, North Carolina. This was to be followed by the laying of the keel of the 45,000-ton super-battleship, Iowa, in June 1940. As in the case of the North Carolina, the New York Naval Shipyard was selected as the lead Yard for the construction of this biggest of all warships ever built in the United States.

World War II

The treacherous attack at Pearl Harbor, galvanized the country into swift action and unprecedented records of production. World War II was to see the New York Naval Shipyard become the largest in the country, and possibly the largest in the world. The Shipyard's transition to a wartime tempo was accomplished quickly and its products in the form of mighty battleships and aircraft carriers were soon to make history.

The Missouri ("Mighty Mo"), whose keel was laid in June 1941, was launched three years later. Eventually, it was to become famous as the ship on which the Japanese signed their unconditional surrender to conclude World War II. Before the war was over, the Shipyard, which had reached a peak of over 71,000 civilian employees, launched in quick succession the 27,000-ton Essex-class carriers, Bennington, Bon Homme Richard and the Kearsarge, as well as eight LST's and the huge 42,000-ton carrier, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

And this is not the whole story. While this tremendous new construction activity was taking place, the workers of the New York Naval Shipyard were also making repairs to over 5,000 combatant vessels and converting 250 others. In addition, Shipyard facilities and equipment were being expanded. Additional land adjacent to the Shipyard was purchased; two new giant drydocks 1100 feet long were constructed; a new 16-story administration building was erected; one of the finest Laboratories in the country was built; a new and modern power plant established; and a host of other facilities added, too numerous to list here.

The workers of the Shipyard have reason to be proud of their efficiency and enviable production record during World War II. The New York Naval Shipyard became the first Naval Shipyard in the country to attain national recognition for its efficiency when it received the Navy "E" for excellence in work performed during World War II. By the spring of 1945, this award had been renewed for the sixth consecutive year.

After World War II

Again, as in the past, the postwar period saw the rapid demobilization of the Navy, and along with it a commensurate decrease in shipbuilding activity. The Yard force dropped from 71,000 to 9,000 employees in the five years following the end of World War II. This has all changed now, and once more the New York Naval Shipyard is being built up in order to assume its traditional role of being the leading Naval Shipyard in furnishing adequate service to the fleet.

The Korean situation and general world tensions has brought a sharp revival of shipbuilding activity to the Yard. One carrier, the Oriskany, has already been converted and two others are being rushed to completion, incident to the current defense program of the nation. Once again, the Shipyard is taking on a wartime pace as it prepares for any new emergency which may arise. Once again, thousands of shipworkers are demonstrating their skill and production genius to insure that the nation's defense is adequate to cope with enemy aggression.

Sesqui-Centennial Celebration

Next Friday, 23 Feb., will mark the 150th anniversary of the New York Naval Shipyard. To properly commemorate the occasion, a gala celebration, dance and entertainment has been planned and arranged by Shipyard Naval and civilian personnel for the night of 23 February at the 106th Infantry Armory in Brooklyn.

On the night of the celebration, a bronze plaque, designed by a Shipyard employee, and symbolizing the Shipyard's progress and achievement in its 150 years of Service to the Fleet, will be unveiled. The celebration will include, in addition, a huge minstrel show in which 200 Shipyard employees will participate. The Anniversary Committee is also publishing a souvenir journal which will contain a history of the Shipyard's growth from 1801 to 1951 and serve to focus attention on the Shipyard as a defense establishment which has rendered historic service to the nation.

Commemoration Envelopes

As part of the commemoration of the sesqui-centennial, a souvenir envelope bearing a replica of the bronze plaque, has been printed. A special die has been procured bearing the words, "150th Anniversary, New York Naval Shipyard," for use on 23 Feb. 1951 at the General Post Office, Brooklyn, N. Y., to cancel these cachet envelopes.

In order that souvenir collectors may obtain commemorative envelopes bearing the anniversary cancellation stamp, a limited number with postage affixed, and cancelled on the anniversary date, will be available for sale at 20 cents each. Orders should be addressed to Commemorative Committee (Code 154), New York Naval Shipyard, Brooklyn 1, New York. Payment should be made by check, money order, or postal note, payable only to the New York Naval Shipyard, 150th Anniversary Committee.

CMC Heads Army-Navy Club

The Commandant of the Marine Corps, General Clifton B. Cates, was elected this week to the presidency of the Army and Navy Club, Washington, D. C.

Other officers named at a meeting of the board of directors were Maj. Gen. Robert L. Walsh, USAF, vice president; Col. J. W. Moreau, USMC (Ret), secretary; and Brig. Gen. A. Owen Seaman, USA (Ret), as treasurer.

New directors chosen to serve for three years were Col. William L. Bell, Jr., Army; Rear Adm. H. L. Pugh, Surgeon General of the Navy; and Brig. Gen. Aaron E. Jones, USA (Ret).

Marine Selection Board

A Marine Corps selection board convened on 15 Feb. to recommend 667 regular captains for promotion to major. Officers in the promotion zone begin with Capt. Ernest Bealer and include Capt. Nicholas Zabitchuck, in lineal order.

Of the total number of officers recommended, 624 may be unrestricted officers. Twenty-eight may be selected for limited duty only, and 15 for supply duty only.

Members of the board are: President, Brig. Gen. Albert D. Copley, Director of the Junior School, Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va.; Colonels Kenneth B. Chappell, Samuel S. Ballentine, Hawley C. Waterman, Ernest E. Shaughnessy, Harold D. Hansen, Archie E. O'Neill, Samuel B. Griffith, II, Robert H. Williams, James M. Daly, Edward H. Forney, and Elmer T. Dorsey.

The board is expected to complete its work in four weeks.

Red Cross Campaign

Secretary of Defense, General Marshall, this week issued a statement in support of the Red Cross Fund Campaign. Prior to his becoming Secretary of Defense, General Marshall was national president of the Red Cross. His statement follows:

"For many years the Red Cross has been regarded as both the symbol and the source of aid to the distressed in great disasters of peace or war. But never in its long history has it faced a larger test of its responsibility than it does today.

"Vital programs for the Armed Forces must be rapidly enlarged to keep pace with our fast-growing military strength. The emergency calls specifically for coordination of a military and civilian blood supply, the strengthening of disaster preparedness, and intensification of first aid and nurse training. There is an ever mounting volume of essential services which the Red Cross must provide for veterans.

"These programs are public responsibilities and their execution requires generous support from the American public.

"As Secretary of Defense, I wish to state the Red Cross will have the full support of the Department of Defense in the effort to meet its 1951 fund campaign goal."

Army-AF Maneuvers

More than 110,000 soldiers and airmen are scheduled to participate in joint Army-Air Force maneuvers during the months of June and July.

The largest maneuver, Southern Pine, will be held in North Carolina and the other, Timber Line, will take place in Colorado. Both are regular training exercises.

From 20 June to 10 July, Southern Pine will be conducted in the Fort Bragg, N. C., area. The Army units now designated to participate are the 82nd Airborne Division, the 28th and 43rd Infantry Divisions, the 3rd Armored Cavalry Regiment, the 278th Regimental Combat Team, and supporting service units.

Air Force units from Tactical Air Command will form a tactical Air Force composed of eight squadrons from three fighter-bomber wings (F-51 and F-54) and six squadrons from three troop carrier wings (C-82 and C-119). There will also be two squadrons of a Tactical Reconnaissance Wing (RF-51 and RB-26), two squadrons of a light bomb wing (B-26 and B-45) and supporting elements.

The purpose of Southern Pine is to provide training for Army and Air Force units in large-scale offensive and defensive operations. The maneuver will furnish experience for both services in close tactical air support and airborne drops of troops, while developing and testing joint doctrine, tactics and techniques.

Exercise Timber Line, in the Camp Carson, Colo., area will consist of mountain maneuvers by the 196th Regimental Combat Team and service units supported by one squadron of a fighter bomber wing and one squadron of a troop carrier wing.

General Mark W. Clark, USA, Chief of Army Field Forces, has designated Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, USA, Commanding General, Third Army, as maneuver director for Southern Pine. Lt. Gen. John K. Cannon, USAF, Commanding General, Tactical Air Command, has named Maj. Gen. Willard R. Wolfenbarger, USAF, Commanding General Ninth Air Force (Tactical) to be deputy maneuver director.

Abandon "Midget" Chevrons

The "midget-sized" chevrons which the Army adopted for its non-commissioned officers in 1948 are to be replaced by the traditional large chevrons which were in use at the end of World War II.

The Army's decision to replace the smaller chevrons is reported officially in Paragraph IV of Circular No. 9—text of which is published herewith.

The large, olive-drab chevrons had been in use for more than four decades when the switch was made to the use of smaller insignia of blue and gold.

Non-commissioned officers assigned to combat were entitled to wear gold chevrons on a blue background, while those assigned to non-combat units wore the same chevrons with the colors reversed.

Thus, the adoption of the olive drab insignia for all enlisted non-commissioned officers will mean the elimination of the requirement for individuals to change all chevrons each time they were transferred from a combat unit to a non-combat unit, etc. Obviously, this dual insignia at the present time has resulted in a morale factor, since a man returning from combat in Korea and assigned to a non-combat unit would have had to remove the combat insignia.

National Guard units never adopted the smaller chevron.

It is noted that the Army has been using the smallest-sized non-commissioned chevrons of any Service, a point that has been a source of some concern by veteran enlisted personnel.

The text of the Army's official announcement follows:

Enlisted Insignia of Grade—Effective immediately the following types of enlisted insignia of grade are reestablished:

1. Noncommissioned officers and privates, first class, will have insignia of grade on a background forming an edging around the entire insignia and between each chevron, as follows:

a. Olive-drab chevrons, arcs, and lozenge on a dark blue background.

b. These insignia of grade will be 3/4 inches wide and are the same design as that insignia of grade which was authorized at the termination of World War II.

2. Listed below are the appropriate insignia for each grade:

a. Master sergeant (E-7)—Three chevrons above three arcs.

b. First sergeant (E-7)—Three chevrons above three arcs with a lozenge between the chevrons and the arcs.

c. Sergeant first class (E-6)—Three chevrons above two arcs.

e. Corporal (E-4)—Two chevrons.

f. Private first class (E-3)—One chevron.

3. Chevrons currently in possession of troops and in supply stocks will be authorized for wear until the larger chevrons described above become available through normal supply channels, at such time the small chevrons will continue to be issued for wear only on the jacket, herringbone twill and the jacket, field, until stocks of this type of chevron are exhausted.

Reassign Two Generals

The Army this week announced the assignment of Maj. Gen. Andrew D. Bruce, USA, to succeed Vice Adm. John L. Hall, USN, as Commandant of the Armed Forces Staff College, effective 30 June. Since Admiral Hall is a three-star officer, it is probable that General Bruce will be nominated for lieutenant general's rank to head the key top-level school.

At the same time, the Army reported that Maj. Gen. Hobart R. Gay, USA, Commanding General of the 1st Cavalry Division in Korea, will return to the United States to succeed General Bruce as Deputy Commanding General of the Fourth Army, Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

General Gay's reassignment marks the return to the United States of the third division commander from Korea—part of the Army's announced policy to utilize to best advantage the combat experience of its troop commanders.

Army Selects 2,071

JOURNAL and are reprinted here for reference purposes. However, since October, one name was added to the list. In October, the Army declined to say whether any of the JAGC officers had been passed-over; this week it was stated that there were no pass-overs in this selection.

As reported in the 5 Aug. issue of THE JOURNAL, the zones of consideration for promotions to lieutenant colonel, major and captain were to extend, respectively, through Claude P. Joyce, Jr., promotion list number 5147; Clyde M. Dillender, Jr., 8942; and Reed A. Thursby, 14753. In each case, these officers were the last selected for permanent advancement.

The extremely low rate of pass-overs reflects the desire by the Army to retain on active service all qualified officers during the current emergency. The "fully qualified" method of selection was utilized for all grades.

It is obvious that a number of officers previously passed-over were picked up for promotion upon second consideration. As reported in the 10 Dec. 1949 issue of THE JOURNAL, there were a total of 134 deferments for promotion to permanent lieutenant colonel, major and captain, of which 70 were first time pass-overs.

For promotion to lieutenant colonel in the late 1949 selections, there were 87 pass-overs, 57 of them for the first time. For promotion to permanent major, 32 were passed over, 12 for the first time; and for promotion to captain, 11 were passed over, four for the first time. Thus a total of 73 officers previously passed over may have been considered for promotion, compared with the total of only nine passed over for a second time.

Dependent Travel Gloomy

The dependent travel problem is going from bad to worse, even as overseas tours are being extended as a result of the current emergency.

Recent issues of THE JOURNAL have told how the lack of housing is resulting in extended delays of dependent travel to Germany and Austria. At the same time, it has been reported that the tour of duty in the European Command for military personnel has been extended to four years.

This week comes word from the Far East Command that there will be no resumption of dependent travel to Japan until the Korean war ends.

Special Troop Levy

The Department of the Army announced this week that a special levy on troop organizations in the United States would make available for Korea substantial number of additional soldiers to be sent as individuals. The overseas movement of these soldiers will be completed by the middle of March.

While the number of troops in the levy has not been announced there has been speculation that it will be from 25,000 to 40,000. This number is in addition to replacements now being sent to Korea at the rate of 15,000 per month to cover losses due to casualties and transfers. The special levy will bring combat and supporting troops in Korea up to full authorized strength, and will enable the Eighth Army to transfer to the South Korean army the Koreans now serving in American organizations.

Most of the combat soldiers included in the special levy for Korea are from the four National Guard divisions called into Federal service last September. When they were called to active duty these divisions were at from 50 to 60 per cent of authorized strength. Subsequently they were brought to approximately full strength by the addition of volunteers and draftees.

Each of the four divisions will contribute a considerable number to the Korean levy, but no division will be reduced below 80 per cent of its authorized strength. None of the Guardsmen who belonged to the unit prior to entry into Federal service will be sent to Korea. Those ordered overseas will come from the subsequent increments. All of those to go to Korea will have completed basic training, with an average period of service of from 17 to 18 weeks.

Some few National Guard non-divisional units have been sent to the Far East, but sending additional Guard units overseas is not at present contemplated.

Advertisers in the Army Navy Air Force Journal support the Armed Forces and are familiar with their requirements.

What it takes to equip a soldier for battle!

All this for one soldier? Then imagine the raw materials it will take to equip over 3,000,000 fighting Americans with everything they need . . . their training, their guns, their tanks, their planes, their battleships . . .

Yet raw materials can't equip a G.I. or win a war.

It also takes skill and speed in forging the weapons of war. In peace, this skill and speed are the strength and well-being of American business . . . of American workers. In war, this skill and speed may well be the security of our nation.

Ship Program (Continued from First Page)

mended unanimously by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

There is little doubt that the full Senate Armed Services Committee will give its speedy approval to the ship construction and conversion bill and early Senate approval is held certain.

It is recalled that in its action on the bill, the House approved the measure by a vote of 365 to 0. The legislation was discussed on the floor of the House for two hours, but there was not a single dissenting comment against the program as a whole.

The House was impressed by the repeated warnings of Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee that modernization of the Navy is urgent to meet requirements of the Atomic Age.

Dependent Travel Warning

The worsening housing situation for families of Service personnel, both in the United States and abroad, is emphasized anew in a message from the Bureau of Naval Personnel regarding housing in the Mediterranean area.

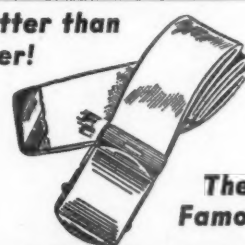

While the Bureau does not attempt to exercise control over the travel of dependents performed by them at their own expense as tourists, it does consider that all personnel should be aware of certain conditions in the Mediterranean Area before deciding to bring their dependents there. The Bureau listed the conditions as follows:

1. No (Naval) quarters are available.
2. Persons proceeding to the Mediterranean will be required to live on the local economy and on such facilities as are available to the general public.
3. Living expenses while not prohibitive are extremely high and beyond the means of the average naval service family.
4. No hospital, dental, or medical facilities are available for dependents.
5. Return commercial transportation to the United States cannot be obtained readily during the tourist season and should be arranged for prior to departure from the United States. (The Navy had pointed out earlier that dependents of personnel attached to ships with U. S. home yards and home ports which are temporarily assigned to duty in overseas areas for periods of less than six months are not eligible for transportation in vessels of the Military Sea Transportation Service to and from these overseas areas. Any travel performed by such dependents must be via commercial transportation at their own expense not subject to reimbursement.)

For the benefit of those personnel who decide to move their dependents into such areas, at their own expense not subject to reimbursement, the Bureau made the following recommendation and statements:

1. Personnel are advised to make a survey of the situation before deciding to move their dependents.
  2. All passport arrangements for such dependents not eligible for MSTs transportation must be made direct with the State Department in Washington, D. C., or with the clerk of the court nearest the home of dependents without applying to the Commander in Chief, Naval Forces, Eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean, for permission to bring dependents to the Mediterranean area.
  3. All passport and visa charges, at the regular rates, must be paid by the applicant.
- The Bureau concluded that personnel who transport their dependents to the Mediterranean area at personal expense under the conditions that have been referred to, do so entirely on their own responsibility and they are informed that Government transportation will not be available for return of these dependents to the United States.

THIS TIME...there need be NO HOUSING SHORTAGE!

AN OPEN LETTER TO HOUSING OFFICIALS

Ten years ago, as our country mobilized for defense, the building industry was faced with the tremendous problem of providing shelter for the army of workers and fighting men. Shelter was provided—but only after long periods of acute housing shortage in critical areas.

THIS NEED NOT HAPPEN AGAIN...Enlightened building leaders see the advantages of prefabrication and are urging full use of the production facilities of this industry. These leaders advise that housing needs be surveyed and housing orders rushed to keep pace with new and expanded industrial and military construction.

To prevent delays, to insure full use of the new and expanded plants and military installations, we recommend that all Government agencies and housing officials everywhere use the SPEED, ADAPTABILITY AND ECONOMY (in man-hours, in vital materials) which prefabrication provides.

James R. Price, President
Prefabricated Home
Manufacturers' Institute

LOOK TO PREFABRICATION FOR COMFORTABLE, SUBSTANTIAL HOMES

Prefabricated housing can promise:

- Speedier manufacture and erection.
- Savings in vital materials through planned engineering and mass purchasing.
- Fewer man-hours, lower production and erection costs.
- Lower delivered price per square foot.
- Nation-wide dealer service organization for service and maintenance.
- Quality construction that meets all mortgage lender's standards for FHA-VA insured loans.

Institute members can offer qualified builders both single and multiple dwelling units in quantity for erection during 1951.

Institute members reserve the right to pass on eligibility of applicants.

AF Dependent Travel

The Air Force has told its personnel that the housing shortage in Europe now necessitates suspension of coordinated travel of dependents and establishment of a priority waiting list.

Effective on 15 Feb., the Air Force ordered that applications for coordinated travel be not approved by headquarters of major commands. Applications approved prior to that date will remain in effect.

Meantime, it was stated that immediately following the establishment of the priority waiting list, the estimated time lag in Europe between travel of sponsor and dependents will be a maximum of two months.

USAFE Deputy Commander

Maj. Gen. Truman H. Landon, USAF, has been appointed Deputy Commander-in-Chief, United States Air Forces in Europe. The Commanding General of USAFE is Lt. Gen. Lauris Norstad, USAF.

General Landon has served since June 1950 at Air Force Headquarters in the Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff, Operations, originally as Director of Plans and Operations, later as Director of Plans in the divided Directorate. During World War II he commanded the Seventh Bomber Command in the Southwest Pacific.

He will report to USAFE Headquarters at Wiesbaden, Germany, early in March. General Landon's successor in the Directorate of Plans has not yet been named.

Deputy for Material

Col. Walter A. Hazelwood, Commanding Officer of the 3203d Maintenance and Supply Group at the Air proving ground since October 1948 has been appointed Deputy for Material to fill the post left vacant by the transfer of Col. Arthur R. DeBolt to the Operational Testing Division at Eglin AFB, Fla.

Colonel DeBolt became project officer for the jet fighter suitability testing program, while Colonel Hazelwood's deputy, Lt. Col. William G. Campbell took over command of the 3203d M. & S. Group.

MATS Continental Div.

Lt. Col. Grover J. Dunkleberg has been named Deputy Chief of Staff for Continental Division, MATS according to an announcement by Maj. Gen. James S. Stowell, USAF, Division Commander, Kelly AFB, Tex.

In civilian life, the new deputy chief of staff was aviation advertising account executive with Hutchins Advertising Company, Inc., Rochester, N. Y., and aviation columnist for the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Colonel Dunkleberg, formerly training officer for the division, replaces Col. George R. Goodwin who has been transferred to MATS Headquarters, at Andrews AFB, Md.

Immediately prior to his new duties, Colonel Dunkleberg was assigned as Liaison Officer for Continental Division at Hickam AFB, Hawaii.

A senior pilot with more than 3500 hours, Colonel Dunkleberg directed the Division's training program during the latter stages of the Berlin Airlift and later in the development of the Heavy Transport Training Unit at Kelly Air Force Base. This unit is the only organization within the Air Force devoted solely to the training of flight and maintenance crews on the Boeing C-97A Stratofreighter.

Gen. Tunner to D. C.

Maj. Gen. William H. Tunner, USAF, who organized and commanded the Korean airlift, has been assigned to temporary duty in Washington, in connection with plans for development of troop carrier operations and military air transport. He said the airlift in Korea proved adequate for moving troops and supplies, and did especially fine work in dropping supplies to combat troops in isolated localities where there were many difficulties encountered by surface transport.

The general was pleased with the four types of cargo planes used, the C-46, C-47, C-54 and C-119. He said that while there was always room for improvement in design he felt the progress that had been made both in types of planes and in technique of operation was excellent. The C-119 was used both for air drops and for ordinary cargo transport, and proved very efficient in both missions.

The average daily time in the air for cargo planes was four hours. The general said that this time could have been doubled had the situation necessitated it. Comparing the Korean operation with the Berlin airlift General Tunner said that the maximum amount transported by air in Korea in any one day was 1,200 tons, while the average daily tonnage moved by the Berlin airlift was 8,000.

SUPER-SONIC BARRIER

Capt. Charles E. Yeager, USAF, became the first human to fly at super-sonic speed, when he flew the X-1 on 14 Oct. 1947. For this exploit, he was awarded the degree of Doctor of Science by the University of West Virginia.

RAF Association

The inaugural meeting of the Washington, D. C., branch of the RAF Association was held 7 Feb. and the following officers elected: Honorary Secretary, Sq. Leader F. J. Thompson; Honorary Treasurer, Mr. Gilbert L. Braithwaite; Welfare officer, Mr. Edward G. White. The election of a branch president and the chairman was held in abeyance.

In addition, a small working committee of six members was elected and the names of 12 founder members were submitted to the Headquarters of the Association in London to complete the official establishment of the branch. The President of the RAF Association for all branches in the United States is Gp. Capt. M. G. Philpott who is the Air Attache of the British Embassy. Five other branches have been established in the U. S. at New York, Chicago, New Orleans, Seattle, and St. Louis. An application has also been received to form one in Los Angeles.

Gp. Capt. and Mrs. Philpott gave a cocktail party following the meeting at which past and present members of the U. S. Armed Forces, the RAF Commonwealth and Empire Air Forces enjoyed the first of many such reunions in Washington.

The main objects of the RAF Association in the U. S. are to foster the spirit of comradeship which existed during the war and to assist any members who may be in distress.

To join, applicant must have served three months in or have been attached to any of the Empire Air Forces. Application should be sent to Sq. Leader F. J. Thompson, British Embassy, 3100 Mass. Ave., NW, Washington 8, D. C.

Aviation Medical Examiners

Seventy medical officers have enrolled at the Air Force School of Aviation Medicine, Randolph AFB, Tex., for the new Aviation Medical Examiner class which began training 5 Feb. The course is of six weeks' duration.

The class including two full colonels, is composed of 12 regular Air Force and 58 reserve and National Guard officers. The two colonels, both regulars, are John W. Linfesty and Don S. Wenger.

Rome AF Depot

The Air Force installation known as Rome Air Depot, N. Y., has been redesignated Rome Air Force Specialized Depot.

Expand AF OCS

The Air Force has raised to 320 the number of officer candidates to be admitted to future Office Candidate School classes. Of this number, 280 will be airmen and 40 will be WAFs.

The previous quotas were 145 males and 15 WAFs, although the January class was augmented by 50 airmen and 24 WAFs.

Officer training courses are of six months duration and begin four times yearly. This means that the Air Force henceforth could receive 1280 new second lieutenants as a result of OCS graduations each year, although there are withdrawals from each class.

In the January class, there are 236 college graduates, two candidates with three years of college and three with two years of college training.

AF Reserve Promotions

Frozen since last summer under a temporary suspension order, promotions for Air Force Reserve officers not on active duty are being resumed by major commands.

This action was taken by the Air Force following completion of studies regarding comparison of ranks between Reserve officers on inactive duty and Reserve and Regular officers in active service.

Following is the text of the Air Force's statement concerning resumption of the inactive promotions for Reserve officers.

"Authority to resume promotion consideration for Reserve officers not on extended active duty has been given to the major Air Force commands, Secretary of the Air Force Thomas K. Finletter announced today.

"Inactive duty promotions, except for second lieutenants, have been frozen since last summer when USAF Headquarters temporarily suspended such promotion authority pending the ordering of large numbers of Reserve officers to active duty. The action was taken at that time to permit a study of inactive duty Reserve rank as compared to that of officers, both Reserve and Regular, who have remained on extended active duty since the war, and to correct as far as possible any promotion inequities.

"The study revealed that at that time more than 25 per cent of the Reserve officers on inactive duty were holding grades higher than their highest rank achieved during World War II. At the same time a large majority of Reserve officers still on active duty, although having several more years of active service, were then serving in their World War II grades because of the limited postwar promotion possibilities.

"With the completion of current promotion board action, it is believed that the schedule of active duty promotions effected since last summer will have accomplished this adjustment.

"The new promotion program for inactive duty Reservists will not permit consideration of any Reserve officer who received a terminal leave promotion.

"Promotions, except to the grade of first lieutenant, will be made only to fill unit vacancies.

"Eligibility consideration will be determined as follows:

"a. For promotion to first lieutenant, 70 points while in the grade of second lieutenant.

"b. For promotion to captain, 105 points while in the grade of first lieutenant.

"c. For promotion to major, 175 points while in the grade of captain.

"d. For promotion to lieutenant colonel, 105 points while in the grade of major.

"e. For promotion to colonel, 140 points while in the grade of lieutenant colonel.

"f. A minimum period of service-in-grade as follows:

2nd Lt to 1st Lt ..... 2 years

1st Lt to captain ..... 3 years

captain to major ..... 5 years

major to 1st col ..... 3 years

1st col to colonel ..... 4 years

"Points may be obtained by inactive duty training, temporary active duty training, and by correspondence course study."

Allison Powers FIRST FLIGHT of First Turbo-Prop Transport

THE first U.S. turbine transport is now a reality and is under test. It was made possible through the private enterprise and initiative of the Allison Division of General Motors. First flight was completed December 29, 1950 with an Allison-owned Convair Turbo-Liner equipped with two Allison "501" Turbo-Prop engines.

This investment in the future of Turbo-Prop power is the result of Allison determination to speed the development of turbine transports in this country. The Allison "501" Turbo-Prop engines, developed under sponsorship of the U.S. Navy, are the most advanced Turbo-Prop engines in the U.S. today. They lead the world in high power for their low weight. They will make possible smoother, more economical transports to carry increased loads of passengers and freight.

Allison will prove these advantages in an extended flight test program on the Turbo-Liner. The results—to be made available to the military services, aircraft manufacturers and commercial air lines—will prove the safe and dependable operation of Turbo-Prop power.

Thus the United States will continue its world leadership in transport aircraft.

OUR PRIORITY LIST

1. Establishment and operation of a Universal Training and Service program and the building up of readiness for industrial production for war as bases for an "enduring system of National Defense."
2. Continued scientific research and development, particularly in all new and unconventional devices and methods of warfare.
3. Revision of Career Compensation Act to correct injustices demonstrated by experience, including adequate compensation of junior officers with long service in enlisted grades. Permanent legislation for special pay for personnel actually engaged in combat with the enemy. More realistic allowances, including those for travel and per diem. Improved retirement pay for disabled and wounded personnel.
4. Early construction of adequate government quarters for Service personnel at all permanent stations, supplemented by government-sponsored private construction to meet expansion needs.
5. Continuance and extension of medical and dental care for Service families; provision for education at government expense of children of Service personnel at stations where suitable free public schools are not available; and survivor benefits for dependents.
6. Restoration of military exemptions from Federal Income Tax, broadened to exclude all retired pay from taxation. Recall to active duty of militarily useful retired officers, together with liberalization of ban on dual compensation so that the government may utilize fully the services of all capable retired personnel.
7. A satisfactory and orderly promotion system for warrant officers to assure all qualified appointees of reaching top grade prior to retirement.
8. Adjustment of promotion procedures to meet current emergency needs and to assure retention on active duty of all qualified officers.

A Solid Cornerstone of American Strength. In explaining to the Senate the manpower bill which his subcommittee had drafted, Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) aptly characterized this vital military service and training measure as a "solid cornerstone to a half-century of American strength." Indeed, with continued adherence to its provisions and sufficient financial support from Congress, it can form the basis of the "enduring system of National Defense" envisioned by Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall. The measure is a two-fold one designed first to meet the present emergency needs for manpower by calling to active service, first, all physically-fit single men from 19 to 25 years of age; second, men in the same category except for physical defects which would still permit limited duty assignments; third, married but childless men within the same age brackets, and fourth, and last, the 18 year old group. Senator Johnson explained, however, that the measure will so operate that, when the national security permits, the emphasis will shift from the drafting of men for the build-up of the active forces to the objective of providing a system of universal training for our young men to assure the maintenance of a strong, trained reserve. The committee followed the recommendations of the report of the Compton Commission that the long-range training program would be controlled, by a board composed of three civilians and two military men all appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. The House Committee, too, is preparing to report a measure designed generally to accomplish the same dual objectives of meeting present needs and establishing a long-range training program. As Senator Johnson cogently told the Senate: "World War I, World War II, and the war in Korea might never have begun if our will for peace could have been supported by strength more tangible than cries of indignation."

Navy War Promotions. It is to be hoped that Congress will act upon the measure introduced by Representative Lansdale G. Sasser (D-Md.) providing for a review of the records of commissioned Naval and Marine Corps officers who failed of advancement during World War II. The legislative history of a similar bill, which came very close to enactment in the last Congress, leaves little doubt as to its merits. The bill originally was introduced to promote Comdr. Edward W. Rawlins, Jr., USN, who was the only member of his class not to be advanced during the War. After extensive hearings the Senate Armed Services Committee was not only convinced of the justice of Commander Rawlins' cause, but other cases had come to their attention wherein they felt that officers had failed of promotion through administrative oversights or errors. In spite of the opposition of the Navy Department, the Senate Committee rewrote the bill to direct the Secretary of the Navy to convene a board to go over the records of all such officers who request a review, and provided a means of granting them promotion. This measure was approved by the Senate on 6 July 1949. The House subsequently held long and detailed hearings, uncovered additional cases of seeming injustices, and reported the measure favorably on 29 Aug. 1950. When the 81st Congress was drawing to a close the bill was brought up on the floor during the call of the consent calendar. Five Congressmen objected to its consideration. None of them was a member of the Armed Services Committee and none had participated in the long and detailed committee hearings. Nevertheless, their action prevented a discussion of the measure on its merits and it was too late in the session to bring it up under a rule whereby its sponsors would explain it to the House. Consequently it died with the Congress. In the meantime, Commander Rawlins who had given the Committees most of the factual background and who had brought in a number of witnesses and statements, was transferred to the Philippines. However, there has been little change in the membership of the two service committees in Congress so that virtually all members are familiar with the problem. We urge them to put the bill through in this session and correct these long-standing injustices.

Letters to the Editor

Letters intended for publication should be accompanied by the name and address of the writer as evidence of good faith. If the writer desires to omit his name when the letter is published, he should so state. THE JOURNAL may find it necessary to use only extracts from longer letters.

Service Needs

Editor, THE JOURNAL:

Your editorial in the 3 February issue of THE JOURNAL is a concise statement of a program for Strong Defense. Pursuant to your hope that readers will express themselves concerning other situations which require correction, I desire to add my support to your priority list generally and particularly to items 3, 6 and 8.

The letters to the Editor entitled "A Sliding Scale" and "The Pay Question" merit serious consideration by the Congress in connection with consideration of the several items of the Priority List, particularly, as there is, in addition to the element of urgency, ample precedent to be found in civilian life and in Government for upward revision of the pay scales and for increased military exemptions from Federal Income tax. The examples in civilian life are so well known in connection with the series of wage increases of the last few years as to require no recital. In Government, too, there have been general pay raises, including tax-free additions to the incomes of the President and Members of Congress.

Another situation which urgently merits action by the Congress involves the review of records of Naval and Marine officers who failed of selection by the wartime selection panels, whose members, unlike those of statutory selection boards, were not sworn nor required to meet as a body. As a result of administrative error, oversight or mistake, an unknown number of officers, who should have been selected and were not, have sustained a continuing injustice and are in lesser ranks or positions of lineal precedence. Passage of S. 780 by the Senate during the last session as a general bill to provide a remedy for such officers in lieu of a private bill for the officer for whom introduced, recognized this situation in true perspective. After considerable investigation S. 780, modified slightly by the House Armed Services Committee, was favorably reported out of committee. It died an ignominious death when last-minute efforts in the closing days of the session to place it on the consent calendar were defeated by a half dozen members of the House either thoughtlessly or with malice aforethought.

The need to review the records of qualified officers and to correct such cases as are found by an impartial statutory review and selection board to warrant correction is greater now than ever. S. 780 should be reopened in the House and Senate Armed Services Committees without delay and, if necessary, to assure passage in both Houses, should be incorporated as a rider to a "must" bill. THE JOURNAL, with propriety, might well bring this matter to the personal attention of each member of the two Armed Services Committees, and the sooner the better.

The need for such action at an early date is expressed in the words of Gladstone: "Justice delayed is justice denied."
Comdr., USN

Upbringing

The girl elevator operator sped the car up to the 10th floor. To her passenger she intoned: "This is your floor, son." Came the irritated reply. "Don't call me son: you're not my mother." "I may not be," was the retort, "but I was the one who brought you up."

In The Journal

One Year Ago

Maj. Gen. Joseph Smith, Deputy Director, Plans and Operations, USAF, recently received an Oak Leaf Cluster to the Legion of Merit for his work in organizing the Berlin Airlift. The presentation was made by General Hoyt S. Vandenberg, USAF Chief of Staff.

10 Years Ago

There is general agreement that the Nazis cannot hope to succeed in invading Great Britain until they have unquestioned superiority in the air which will permit them to overwhelm British fighter air stations. Until such stations have been silenced, it seems unlikely that Hitler's air armada can support a sufficiently well organized and equipped land force through the air or across the sea to overcome the British Army.

25 Years Ago

It is interesting to note the revision of the Japanese building program as a result of the Washington Conference. Japan at that time had 87,730 tons of light cruisers, built and building. The post-treaty plan was to complete that 87,730 tons and lay down 70,000 tons additional in light cruisers, which will make an aggregate of 25 modern cruisers. To balance this we have our program of 10 light cruisers aggregating 75,000 tons laid down in 1918 and completed by 1925, and an authorized program of eight 10,000-ton cruisers, but two of which have had funds appropriated by Congress for their building.

50 Years Ago

A correspondent asks: "Has the United States a standing army at the present time?" We answer that no part of her army can be considered as "standing," most of her troops are in the Philippines, "hiking" after the insurgents, others are in China, rushing the Boxers.

85 Years Ago

The want of method in the preparation of the military bills now before Congress, both in the context of the bills and the means taken to ascertain what is necessary, must strike every one whose attention has been called to them. The same want of method has existed from the first formation of an army in this country to the present time, and consequently a military law has rarely been enacted that a supplementary law has not been required to correct it, while the defects of many laws still remain to be corrected.

SERVICE NEWS AND GOSSIP

Foreign Affairs—Debate in and out of Congress on sending additional American troops to Europe was intensified this week with open hearings by the Senate Committees on Foreign Relations and Armed Services. These committees, meeting jointly, have under consideration a resolution introduced by Senator Kenneth S. Wherry, (R-Neb.), minority leader, which would prohibit the sending of more troops to Europe, without specific approval of the Congress. Administration leaders hope to substitute a measure authorizing the President to send troops to assist in maintaining the collective security of Atlantic Pact nations of Western Europe against the threat of Communist aggression.

The first witness before the committee was Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall. Secretary Marshall told the Senators that the President had approved a recommendation of the Joint Chiefs of Staff that four additional American divisions and supporting troops, with an aggregate strength of about 100,000 be assigned to Europe. He said he divulged this information reluctantly, with the approval of the President, because he felt that despite security considerations it was important that the morale of our allies not be weakened by a debate based on uncertainties. The additional four divisions will bring our ground strength in Europe to six divisions, plus supporting troops. Secretary Marshall said there were no plans to increase this number in the foreseeable future. He said that proportionately the American contribution to European defense will be greater in air and naval forces than in ground forces. Proportionately also, he said, the American contribution in the production of munitions will be greater than in provision of manpower.

The committees also expected to hear statements of other government officials and of a considerable number of other distinguished statesmen of varying degrees of opinion as to the wisdom and propriety of providing further military assistance to Western Europe. Members of the committees hoped to conclude hearings next week and report a resolution, after which the so-called "great debate" was expected to continue for some time on the floor of the Senate.

In a second radio address former President Herbert Hoover reiterated his opposition to sending additional troops to Europe, until the European countries had provided for their own defense. He opposed a large land army, but favored strengthening the Navy and Air Force, which he felt could provide the United States with adequate protection against Soviet aggression. He suggested that this country maintain air bases in England and the Mediterranean area.

Senator Wherry challenged the right of the President to send troops overseas without the consent of Congress, and generally supported the position taken by Mr. Hoover. Senator Robert A. Taft, (R-Ohio), declared that the Congress had the right and duty to limit our commitments of military aid to Europe, but he was willing to agree that a few additional American divisions be sent to Europe. He suggested that the American contribution of ground troops to aid Europe be fixed at one-ninth of the force raised by European countries but not exceeding 20 per cent of our total ground force. Like Mr. Hoover, he favored an expanded Navy and Air Force, rather than a large Army.

On the other hand, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, titular national head of the Republican party, advocated a greater expansion of the Army, Navy and Air Force than had been proposed by the administration, and a very heavy contribution of ground troops to European defenses. He declared that the number and deployment of such forces should be fixed by the President and his military advisers, not by the Congress. He strongly opposed the suggestion that we withdraw from participation in the defense of Europe, as well as the proposal that we rely almost exclusively on air and sea power. The governor said that we should clearly state our position with respect to Communist aggression, not only against the Atlantic Pact countries, but also Turkey, Iran, Greece, Yugoslavia, Spain and the whole Moslem world from Egypt to China.

Advocates of increased military aid for Europe received powerful assistance this week from General Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Chief of Staff of the Air Force, who wrote in an article in the Saturday Evening Post that if Russia were to overrun Europe she would gain far more in resources than we could knock out by strategic bombing in the Soviet Union. The Air Chief warned that our air defense could not hope to prevent substantial numbers of enemy planes from reaching our country with atom bombs and conventional types of missiles. He said that Russia had 450 long-range planes, modeled after our B-29, capable of making a one-way flight to this country. Despite tight air defenses, he said, 70 per cent of these bombers could get through.

While the debate continues on our responsibilities for European defense, tentative plans are being made for a preliminary conference in Paris next month of deputy foreign ministers of the United States, Great Britain, France, and Russia, to try to agree on the agenda for a later meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers to discuss outstanding international tensions. While consenting to the preliminary meeting the State Department is frankly skeptical about the beneficial results of the proposed conference.

In Italy there is a rapidly growing revolt of prominent Communists against domination by the Kremlin. The defections began last week with the resignations of two Communist deputies in the Italian parliament, Valdo Magnani and Aldo Cuccchi, who have long records of leadership among Italian Communists. They resigned because they felt that loyalty to Italy took precedence over loyalty to Moscow. They recognized their obligation to defend their country against all aggressors, including Russia. Joining them in their action were a score of Communist party leaders, particularly in the Red stronghold of Reggio Emilia.

During the week Assistant Secretary of State George Perkins conferred with Marshal Tito and other Yugoslav leaders in Belgrade. There was speculation that the position of the United States in the event of an attack on Yugoslavia by Russia or by one or more of the Red satellite countries may have been discussed. Mr. Perkins told the press he did not believe Russia was ready or had the desire to start a general war this spring.

Ambassador John Foster Dulles this week concluded preliminary conversations with Japanese leaders relative to a proposed peace treaty, and was optimistic over the prospects for satisfactory negotiations. Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida and Mr. Dulles jointly announced that the Japanese government "warmly welcomed" a United States offer to station troops in Japan after a peace treaty is signed, "in the face of devastating Communist aggression in Korea." Limited Japanese rearmament for national defense is under consideration. After leaving Japan Mr. Dulles went to the Philippines and Australia for informal conferences with political leaders on the Japanese peace treaty.

Ships of the Fleet—The destroyers USS Herbert J. Thomas, commanded by Comdr. Sibley L. Ward, jr., USN, and the USS Samuel N. Moore, whose skipper is Comdr. Robert H. Wanless, USN, have returned to the west coast from Korean combat service for Navy yard overhaul.

The USS Catamount (LSD 17) early this month delivered at Pusan more than 1,150 boxes of clothes, shoes and toys for needy Koreans, donated by the Marine Corps League of Passaic, N. J. Capt. R. L. Fumton, USN, is commanding officer. The shipment was brought to Kobe, Japan, from Norfolk, Va., aboard the USS Bryce Canyon to San Diego, Calif., where the boxes were transferred to the USS Montrose for delivery to Japan.

The attack cargo ship USS Montague, under command of Capt. Henry P. Wright, jr., USN, during a recent two week period transported more than 5,000 Korean civilian refugees to an island haven off the coast of Korea.

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, USA, Eighth Army Commanding General, flew by helicopter to the USS Missouri on 12 Feb., where he was greeted by Vice Adm. Arthur D. Struble, USN, 7th Fleet Commander, Vice Adm. W. G. Andrewes of the British Navy and Rear Adm. Roscoe Hillenkoetter, USN.

The 45,000-ton carriers USS Coral Sea and Franklin D. Roosevelt and the 17,000-ton cruiser USS Newport News were among U. S. Navy ships participating on 12 and 13 Feb. in the largest combined exercises of American and British warships since the end of World War II. More than 60 ships were involved in the Mediterranean maneuvers.

Military Notes From Abroad—Australia—The strength of the sea-going forces of the Royal Australian Navy increased from 10,035 on 1 Jan. 1950 to 11,279 on 31 Dec. 1950, according to statistics made available recently. An increase in the strength of permanent naval personnel from 14,753 to 15,173 has been authorized. To stimulate recruiting, a shorter initial engagement, one of six years, as an alternative to the long-standing 12-year period, has been approved. To attract trained ex-naval personnel and men of required skills a two-year initial engagement has been introduced.

During 1950, the Australian fleet, was augmented by placing in commission three destroyers and a general-purpose vessel. Approval was also given for the building of six anti-submarine frigates and the conversion of five "Q" class destroyers to fast anti-submarine escort vessels. Modern anti-submarine equipment will be fitted to the RAN's Tribal class destroyers. The new battle class destroyer, HMAS Tobruk, built in Sydney, joined the Australian fleet on 1 Dec., and her sister-ship, HMAS Anzac, constructed at the Naval Dockyard, Williamstown, will be commissioned in March, on completion of trials.

Turkey—At Ankara, decision has been made to send 600 more troops to Korea, which will bring to almost 6,000 the number of Turks serving with the U. N. forces. The new contingent was to sail this week for the Far East.

Britain—Vice Adm. M. J. Manserg, Fifth Sea Lord, has predicted that helicopters may be based on merchant ships to defend convoys against submarines following trials now being carried out in the English Channel. Instead of having a light carrier with every convoy, one or more merchant ships can be fitted up with a special flight platform for helicopters. The helicopters will then take-off direct to search the sea-lanes near the convoys for submarines which have crept past long-range, shore-based search aircraft.

Norway—Admiral Edvard Danielsen, Chief of the Norwegian Navy, reports that comprehensive plans have been worked out for defense measures aboard Norwegian merchant vessels. Crews of conscription age are now being trained in batches of 200 as gunners and submarine spotters. In another defense move, shipping companies have agreed that 45 ships now under construction are to be reinforced for gun mountings. Furthermore, as ships sailing in Atlantic waters are laid up for repairs, they will be similarly strengthened. In an interview with the Norwegian Journal of Commerce and Shipping, Admiral Danielsen states that under the U. S. Military Aid Program, the Norwegian Navy has already received millions of dollars worth of equipment, and more is expected, including ten motor torpedo boats, two minelayers, two minesweepers and a repair ship.

Brazil—General Pedro Aurelio de Goes Monteiro this week was named Army Chief of Staff.

Military Writer Honored—Mr. Mark S. Watson, author of the latest volume in the Army's historical series, has been selected as the winner of the first Maryland Press Association award to "the individual who has done the most during the year to further the principles and ethics of journalism in this state for the public good." Mr. Watson was specifically cited for his series of analytical articles on military subjects in the Baltimore Sun. He is military correspondent for the Sun, having recently returned from covering General Eisenhower's tour of Europe. He won the Pulitzer prize for international correspondence in 1945.

Mr. Watson's book, written as a project of the Historical Division, Department of the Army, "The War Department, Chief of Staff: Prewar Plans and Preparations," is a detailed and objective coverage of the events and planning preceding our entry into World War II. It has proved of particular value at this time by recalling earlier pitfalls and difficulties which can be handled by better planning in these perilous times.

Medical Services Officer Transfers—Officers of the military medical services, Regular and Reserve, who wish to apply for transfer from one military service to another should submit requests at the earliest possible date, because the authority for such transfers, provided by Public Law 779, 81st Congress, expires 9 July.

Officers of the Medical Corps, Dental Corps, Nurse Corps, Medical Service Corps, Veterinary Corps, and Women's Medical Specialist Corps are eligible to apply. Transfers will not be made except upon the individual officer's request and with the approval of both military departments concerned. The law does not authorize transfer of retired officers. Commissioned warrant officers of the Navy's Hospital Corps also are excluded, since there is no counterpart for that grade in the Army or the Air Force.

Personnel transferred will be credited with Federal service already performed, for purposes of promotion, seniority and retirement, and unused leave may be transferred without loss. The following military publications govern the submission and processing of applications for transfer:

ARMY: Active duty personnel—Section I, DA Circulars 70 and 71, 1950. Inactive duty personnel—Section II, DA Circular 71, 1950.

NAVY: Active and Inactive Duty Personnel—Circular Letter 196-50, Navy Medical Bulletin, dated 15 December 1950, Pers-B-6221-NG, P16-3/00, 15 December 1950.

AIR FORCE: Active Duty Personnel—Air Force Letter No. 36-44, 13 December 1950. Inactive Duty Personnel—Air Force Manual 36-5, December 1950.

First Croix de Guerre in Korea—First Lt. Richard R. Smith, artillery officer in the 2d Infantry Division, has been awarded the first Croix de Guerre presented to an American for heroism in Korea. The medal was given to Lieutenant Smith by Lt. Col. Ralph Mondclear, commander of the French battalion in Korea, for distinguished service with a French company under enemy frontal and flank attack.

Honor FEC Chief Nurse—The first Legion of Merit award for an Army nurse since fighting began in Korea was presented recently to Lt. Col. Alice M. Gritsavage, Chief Nurse of the Far East Command, by Maj. Gen. Erskine Hume, Far East Command Surgeon. Colonel Gritsavage, a Reserve nurse, won the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in Italy during World War II and through recommendation by the Vatican was awarded the Italian Cross of Merit for outstanding service in assisting Army chaplains to care for orphans in Italy.

Fourth Star for General Ridgway—The Army's official announcement in Special Orders this week of the promotion from major general to lieutenant general of corps commanders in Korea renewed speculation that in the near future the name of Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, USA, would be submitted to the Senate for four-star rank. It is recalled that the late General Walton H. Walker, USA, had been proposed for four-star rank by General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, USA, prior to General Walker's death, although the actual promotion was made posthumously.

Since leaving his post as Deputy Chief of Staff, Administration, to go to Korea as successor to General Walker, General Ridgway is credited with having done a superlative job. There is little doubt that the Senate would confirm his nomination for a fourth star—the traditional rank for an officer commanding an army in the field.

Another Retired General Recalled—A second retired Army general officer has been recalled for service at General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters in Paris. Reporting the recall of Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons, USA-Ret., for service with General Eisenhower on 3 Feb., THE JOURNAL speculated that additional retired officers would be summoned to active service. Now comes the announcement that Maj. Gen. Edmond H. Leavey, USA-Ret., who ended 32 years of service on 30 June 1949 as Army Comptroller, has been assigned to SHAPE Headquarters. Prior to his assignment as Army Comptroller on 16 July 1948 General Leavey was Chief of Transportation.

Meantime, in a further move which emphasizes the Army's growing utilization of retired officers, Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, USA-Ret., and Maj. Gen. Cecil R. Moore, USA-Ret., were both brought back on active duty as of 12 Feb. and assigned to the Office of the Chief of Staff for service until 25 Feb. when they will revert to retired status. Although officials declined to reveal the exact nature of their assignments, Generals Gerow and Moore presumably are serving in a special advisory function on a particular problem.

Proposes Department of Health—A distinguished authority on public health and preventive medicine, Brig. Gen. James Stevens Simmons, USA-Ret., dean of the Harvard School of Public Health, has proposed the creation of a Federal Department of Health with cabinet status, to be headed by a Secretary of Health.

In a speech last week before the College of Physicians in Philadelphia, General Simmons said the Secretary of Health "would be responsible for the coordination and integration of all Federal health activities, except those of the Armed Forces." He said such a department should provide for close cooperation with the Secretary of Defense and his medical staff. "Thus," said General Simmons, "it would be possible to develop a closely integrated national program to conserve the health of both the civil population and the Armed Forces."

Canadian Sea-going Soldiers Granted Special Pay—Canadian soldiers assigned for duty with Royal Canadian Navy ships at sea qualify for the recently authorized "foreign allowances" granted Army men posted overseas. The allowances range from $9 monthly for Corporals and private soldiers to $16.50 per month for Warrant Officers Class One.

General Persons Back on Capitol Hill—Retired in June 1949 as Chief of the Department of Defense Legislative and Liaison Division and recalled to active service from his post as commandant of Staunton, Va., Military Academy, Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons, USA, was back on Capitol Hill this week. When Secretary of Defense, General Marshall, testified on the matter of sending troops to Europe before the combined Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees on 15 Feb., General Persons was at his side. It has been announced that General Persons will serve on the staff of General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, USA, at Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe. The likelihood is that General Persons will be General Eisenhower's main liaison with Congress, an important assignment for which he is eminently qualified.

Why have so many retired officers made this their home?

Life on the Monterey Peninsula means a continuation of active service contacts and interests—plus the fruits of a peaceful, abundant way of living. Some of America's most prominent citizens maintain permanent residence in this area.

Here the Monterey Peninsula Country Club is the largest and most popular Club on the Peninsula. In addition to its fine golf course, it offers tennis courts, bathing pool, and a magnificent club house with excellent cuisine for an attractive social life.

Inspired by one of America's great generals, it was planned primarily to give retired Army and Navy officers the facilities for enjoying the way of life to which they were accustomed—in a region which most of them had learned to love.

The Club became so popular that, today, approximately half its members are civilians residing on the Peninsula. Amongst the others are the names of men, retired from active service in both the Army and Navy, that will be known in the history of the country for all time.

This is a proprietary Club. Property ownership is a requisite for regular membership. A generous building site, and a membership, are surprisingly low in cost, and dues are nominal.

You Get Double Duty Service

... from this Portable Grandstand.

There's good reason to specify Wayne's Type "H" Steel, Portable Grandstand...

For you can use it either in—or out-of-doors!

Weighing only 696 lbs., a standard 4-row unit can be carried intact through the usual double doorway. And larger units, which are made in portable sections, can be easily moved to any location desired.

Versatile, durable, and absolutely safe—Wayne's Type "H" costs only a little more per seat than ordinary wooden bleachers. And the seating capacity of a Type "H" can be increased at any future date by adding to it either in length or number of rows.

Air Force Promotions

has delegated to its major commands authority for officer promotions—except for a relatively few "spot" promotions allocated to the Strategic Air Command and Far East Air Forces during recent months—the first names of officers selected for advancement to the temporary rank of major were revealed late this week.

Published herewith are the names of 541 captains assigned to the Air Training Command who were given the temporary rank of major, effective 15 Feb.

The selections were made following careful screening by Air Training Command officials of a list of 1,500 eligible captains.

Also printed herewith are the names of 470 MATS, 56 Tactical Air Command and 45 Air Proving Ground captains promoted to the temporary rank of major, effective 15 Feb.

Maj. Gen. Robert W. Harper, USAF, Commanding General of the Air Training Command, Scott AFB, Ill., emphasized the care which was taken to insure equitable consideration of all eligible officers. He said that members of the selection board made several trips to Washington to check records in cases where doubt existed concerning the completeness of an officer's record. The record of each eligible officer, said General Harper, was reviewed at least four times.

Eligible for consideration were officers who have held a commission as a major in the Air Reserve or Air National Guard or who were appointed as a captain prior to 1 Nov. 1945 and had served at least 16 months in that grade prior to 30 June 1947.

Officers who held spot promotions to the grade of major from FFAF or SAC were also considered.

The ATC selection board also was authorized to consider captains with date of rank prior to 1 May 1949 and who had 10 months' active duty prior to 30 June 1947, provided that this group constituted no more than 2 per cent of the list.

Temporary Captains

In releasing the list of 1841 lieutenants temporarily promoted to captain as of 15 Feb., the Air Force noted that this represents the final increment of the 9020 officers named last August for temporary advancement to that grade.

Included in the list released this week are 42 Regulars and 1799 non-Regulars. Of the total promoted since the board action last August, 819 have been Regulars and 8201 non-Regulars.

The following officers were eligible for the promotion selection:

1. All Reserve and Air National Guard officers serving on active duty as first lieutenants who hold a captain's grade in their Reserve component.

2. All other officers serving as first lieutenants whose date of initial appointment in that grade was prior to 1 March 1946, and who served at least 12 months on active duty as a first lieutenant prior to 30 June 1947.

Change Promotion Procedures

Confronted with the necessity to retain in active service all qualified officers, the Air Force has decided to replace the "best qualified" method of selection for permanent promotions to major and lieutenant colonel with the "fully qualified" method.

As a result, the number of pass-overs is certain to decrease.

The Air Force directed its commanders to notify officers passed over for the first time by 1950 selection boards of this policy change. It will undoubtedly result in a number of officers passed-over as a result of the "best qualified" selections to be picked up and selected for promotion under the "fully qualified" method.

The action was taken as direct result of the current national emergency. It is recalled that the Air Force previously announced policies by which certain Regular officers, even though twice passed-over, may be retained in active service, although in Reserve status.

A comparison of the drastic difference in the rate of pass-overs which occurs when the "best qualified" method is used instead of the "fully qualified" may be obtained from this analysis.

In October, the Air Force announced the selection of 2280 permanent majors for advancement to permanent lieutenant colonel, but reported that 315 officers were passed over—65 of them for a second time.

The Army, using the "fully qualified" system, this week reported that of 597 officers considered for permanent promotion to lieutenant colonel, only 11 were passed over—6 for the second time.

Then, in mid-December the Air Force reported selection of 3794 permanent captains for promotion to permanent major, but simultaneously reported that 501 were passed over—66 of them for a second consecutive time. The "best qualified" method of selection was used for this rank also.

Again, by comparison, the Army this week said that of 923 permanent captains considered for promotion to permanent major, only 14 were deferred—2 of them for a second consecutive time.

The Air Force and Army promotion list actions are not exactly comparable, for the former Service has a relatively greater number of officers in the field grades and therefore pass-overs likely will be proportionately higher than in the Army—a problem that has been cited to Congress many times by ranking Air Force officials.

However, the Air Force decision to forego the "best qualified" for the "fully qualified" system in promoting to permanent grades of major and lieutenant comes as no startling development, since action was necessary to prevent the forced elimination of scores of qualified officers needed during the current emergency.

Commands Combat Regt.

Col. William W. Quinn, who was recently promoted to his present rank while serving as assistant chief of staff, G-2, in X Corps, is now commanding the 17th Regiment of the 7th "Hourglass" Infantry Division in Korea.

Colonel Quinn became Maj. Gen. Edward M. Almond's G-2 officer when X Corps was formed in Tokyo last August.

that 70 per cent of the communications area was destroyed.

Close tactical air support was given hard-pressed Allied troops in the battle area around the clock. At night flares dropped by planes and star shells fired by artillery illuminated the battlefield, preventing enemy infiltration under cover of darkness, and disclosing targets to aircraft and ground troops.

B-29 Superforts from Okinawa bases made interdiction attacks on transportation lines and rolling stock in North Korea. Nineteen bombers hit enemy railroads northwest of Hamhung. Other groups dropped 170 tons of high explosives on bridge spans and other transport facilities at Nanan and Churong-jang.

Marine Corsair pilots from the U. S. Light Carrier Bataan, and Navy pilots with Skyraiders, Corsairs and Panther Jets from Fast Carrier Task Force 77 concentrated their main efforts in close support of ground troops.

A 40-car train about to enter a tunnel near Sonjin was almost completely destroyed. Numerous troop concentrations were hit and heavy casualties inflicted. Large fires were started in three supply areas. Forty-six buildings were destroyed and 39 damaged.

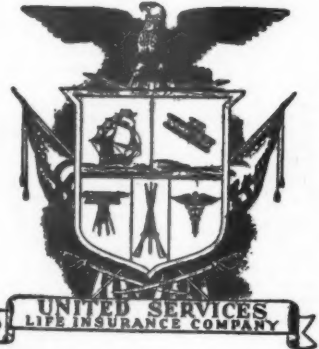

One flight of Marine planes partially sealed two tunnels near Sinmak. A concentration of 100 enemy troops crossing the ice-covered Chosen reservoir was almost completely annihilated by Navy planes in repeated strafing attacks.

Magnesium Plant

At the direction of the Munitions Board, the General Services Administration will reactivate the Electro-Metallurgical Co. magnesium plant at Spokane, Wash., Jess Larson, Administrator of General Services, announced this week.

The plant, which has been held in the National Industrial Reserve, will be operated under a contract by the Pacific Northwest Alloys, Inc., of Spokane, a subsidiary of Chromium Mining & Smelting Corp., Chicago.

Mr. Larson said reactivation of Electro-Metallurgical brings the sixth industrial reserve magnesium facility back into operation. The others are at Painesville, Ohio; Canaan, Conn.; Wingdale, New York; Velasco, Texas and Manteca, California.

These three investments recommended for you

BASIC DEFENSE STOCK

The recent expansion in manufacturing facilities prepares this company for Defense Work Stock. At our price this stock is but little above half its 1946 highest — when its per share earnings were lower than now. 1951 dividends may break all disbursement records for this company. This common stock is in the INDUSTRIAL EQUIPMENT industry which carries our "A" investment rating.

UNUSUAL STEEL STOCK

Low in price—high in investment rating. Assets twice the 1929 boom area. Earning triple 1937 boom top. Price one half the 1946 top. 1951 earnings due to set all time record and by raising the market price give credence to our presently recommended bargain price. WITH SALES NOW FIVE-FOLD THOSE OF 1943 . . . This company experienced no growing pains over the last 7 years in creating an eight-fold surplus and seven-fold net earnings. Net current assets equal one-third of all assets. All of this comes from active "Brains" in the management — a management which courageously shifted from raw material selling to finished produce manufacturing.

Preserve Combat Functions

Representative Carl Vinson (D-Ga), chairman of the House Committee on Armed Services, has asked that the bill to permit the President to make emergency defense reorganizations be amended to prohibit "abolishing, reassigning, transferring, consolidating, or in any way disturbing the combatant functions assigned to any of the military services by the National Security Act."

Representative Vinson made his appeal to the House Committee on Expenditures in Executive Department which has the reorganization bill under consideration. The Committee members seemed to be in sympathy with his suggestion.

"The President may not desire to disturb it in the least degree," Mr. Vinson told the committee, "but you would give him the authority as this bill is now drafted, if he saw fit he could do it. What would be the result? For instance, the President might say 'We will take the Naval Aviation and turn it over to the Air Force and all they will have in this country is one aviation group.' Or—'We will take the Marines and transfer them into the Army and have just one ground force.'"

"Particularly in this critical period, we do not want any agitation for combatant functions to be changed. They all know what it is and they are working under it, and we do not want any authority written into the law where the Executive, if he saw fit to do so, would have the right to do these things. That is all the amendment is intended to do."

Col. Stratton Decorated

Announcement has been made of the award of the Distinguished Service Cross to Col. Charles W. Stratton, Arty, USA, for heroism in Korea while serving with the 24th Infantry Division Artillery.

The citation declares that Colonel Stratton's actions during a withdrawal action when he went to the rescue of a surrounded unit "saved numerous lives," notably men in the 19th Infantry Regiment and the 52d Field Artillery Battalion.

SERVICE SOCIAL NEWS

MAJ. Gen. Edward W. Anderson, assistant deputy controller of the Air Force, and Mrs. Anderson have as house guests Mr. and Mrs. Paul V. Hall of Greenwich, Conn., for whom they entertained at dinner Saturday evening last.

The Army Chief of Staff and Mrs. J. Lawton Collins, entertained at dinner at their quarters at Ft. Lesley J. McNair on Thursday evening, 15 Feb. The honor guests were Maj. Gen. and Mrs. John H. Church. General Church has recently returned from Korea where he commanded the 24th Infantry Division. He and Mrs. Church are visiting in Washington for a short time, before going to Ft. Benning, Ga., where General Church will assume command of the Infantry Center. Other guests at the dinner were Assistant Secretary of the Army and Mrs. Earl D. Johnson, the Army Comptroller Lt. Gen. and Mrs. Raymond S. McLain, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. George H. Decker, Col. and Mrs. Francis C. Endicott and Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Hartshorn.

Air Vice Marshal Hugh Campbell, R.C.A.F., and Mrs. Campbell were at home yesterday—Friday—to introduce to fellow officers and friends Maj. W. G. McGuire who arrived from Ottawa Monday and who is to succeed Maj. R. P. Walker, leaving shortly for his new post at Winnipeg. The gathering also afforded an opportunity for friends to bid farewell to Major and Mrs. Walker.

Mrs. Omar N. Bradley, wife of the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, was hostess recently at a luncheon in compliment to Mrs. Theodore Wessels, wife of Bri. Gen. Wessels, in command at Fort McClellan, Ala., who has been visiting Capt. and Mrs. Robert Roger Wessels at Fort Belvoir. Mrs. Bradley's party was in the nature of a farewell for Mrs. Wessels, sr., who left for home Saturday. Others entertaining her were Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Lawrence C. Jaynes, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. J. Matejka and Col. and Mrs. Russell Skinner.

The Officers' Wives of the U. S. Naval Receiving Station, Washington, met for luncheon on 15 Feb. at the Officers' Club, Bolling Field. Miss Jean Fisher, Director of Woodward and Lothrop's Studio of Interior Decorating, spoke on "Current Trends in Decorating."

Mrs. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, wife of the Air Force Chief of Staff, honorary president of the Air Force Officers' Wives Club, was the ranking guest at their luncheon Wednesday at the Army and Navy Country Club, and she in turn asked Lady Tedder and her daughter, Miss Mina Tedder, to share the head table with her. Others asked by Mrs. Vandenberg were Mrs. John McCone, Mrs. Ellis Oglesby Mayfield, the former Miss Susan Neff Ballantyne, daughter of Col. and Mrs. John Lawson Ballantyne, USA-Ret., who was married 20 Jan. at El Paso, Tex., to Captain Mayfield, USAR.

Mrs. Eugene Zuckert, Mrs. Nathan Twinning, Mrs. Truman Landon, Mr. Charles Wesley Schott, the President of the club; with Mrs. C. A. Sheldon, Mrs. William J. Looksdooe and Mrs. Edward W. Anderson, who is general chairman of the Fair to be held at Bolling Air Force Base, 31 March.

Mrs. Anderson, introduced by Mrs. Frank Everest, spoke on the work of the various committees having the coming Fair in charge.

Mrs. Kenneth C. Royall, wife of the former Secretary of the Army, entertained at the fashion luncheon at the Mayflower Monday.

The wives of the officers of the Army Medical Service, Washington, D. C. area, held their regular monthly luncheon 7 Feb. at the Army Medical Center Officers' Club. Mrs. P. H. Streit presided. Mrs. Raymond Bliss presented two beautiful bouquets for door prizes. Mrs. F. E. Vultee and Mrs. Robert Blunt held the lucky numbers.

After luncheon bingo and poker were played. The winners were: Bingo, Mrs. A. K. Brown, jr., Mrs. E. G. Rivas and Mrs. J. O. Yeager; poker, Mrs. Raymond Bliss and Mrs. P. H. Streit.

Maj. W. A. Milroy, DSO, Canadian Army, and Mrs. Milroy have left Ft. Monroe, Va., for their new station at Camp Borden, Ontario, Canada, where Major Milroy will be on the staff of the Director of the Armored Corps. Mrs. Milroy, the former Miss Ann deKoven Tilton, is the youngest daughter of Brig. Gen. Rollin L. Tilton, USA-Ret. and Mrs. Tilton of Hampton, Va., and St. Louis, Mo. The latter part of January, Major and Mrs. Milroy accompanied General and Mrs. Mark W. Clark to Ottawa, where they had the honor of dining at Government House with their Excellencies, the Governor-General and Lady Alexander.

Lt. Gen. and Mrs. John W. Leonard are receiving congratulations on the birth of their first grandchild. A son was born to Maj. and Mrs. Michael L. Crosthwait, 17 January, Mrs. Leonard's birthday. The baby was born near Osnabruck, Germany, where Major Crosthwait is stationed with the Royal Engineers. The baby has been named John Leland for his two grandfathers, General Leonard and the late Colonel Crosthwait of the British Army. Mrs. Crosthwait is the former Natalie Leonard, who was married in London when her father was stationed there as senior Military Attache.

Over 100 members and guests of the Transportation Corps Women's Club attended the Valentine day Luncheon at the Ft. McNair Officers Club. With Mrs. Frank A. Heileman, Honorary President and Mrs. Ralph I. Glasgow, President, at the head table were: Mrs. Walter B. Smith, Mrs. Frank S. Besson, jr., Mrs. Paul F. Yount, Mrs. Calvin DeWitt, Mrs. Donald Jacques, the luncheon chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene L. Barnwell and Mrs. Rea Winter. Mrs. C. C. Albaugh was in charge of table decorations which were in the Valentine motif, each table being centered with brilliant hearts and gay flowers. Songs in the romantic theme were provided by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene L. Barnwell accompanied by Mrs. Rea Winter. Assisting the party chairman were: Mrs. William V. Owen, Mrs. Ramon F. D'Elosua, Mrs. Donald G. Dow, Mrs. James W. Foster, Mrs. Fred C. Allen, Mrs. Chester Canine, Mrs. Glen C. Hess and Mrs. Terrance M. Longacre, jr.

Miss Thaxton took graduate work in education at San Diego State College after finishing at Stanford University. She is a member of Tau Omicron Phi and Delta Phi Epsilon sororities. Mr. Page, son of Maj. Frank H. Page, USAF-Ret. and Mrs. Page, is a Pomona graduate and is a lieutenant in the Marine Corps reserve.

In San Diego, Calif., on 11 March, Miss Cynthia Beatrice Simmonds, daughter of Col. Edward P. Simmonds, USMCR, and Mrs. Simmonds, of La Jolla, will become the bride of Carey Taylor Lucas, of Los Angeles.

The ceremony will be performed in the chapel at the Marine Recruit Depot and Miss Simmonds, a graduate of the College of Wooster, Wooster, O., has invited her sister, Miss Jeanne Simmonds, Mrs. Harry Mack and Mrs. Robert Jones, of Los Angeles, to be her attendants.

Mr. Lucas is the son of Mrs. Edith R. Ganzhorn, of San Bernardino, Calif.

The engagement of Miss Ballard Fish to Mr. Douglas Englebart has been announced by her mother Mrs. Gregory Kreshover in Los Gatos, Calif. The bride-to-be is the daughter of the late Lt. Col. James Fish III, USA, well-known Army polo player and jump rider. She was graduated from Mills College in '49 and received her Occupational Therapy Certificate there last year. Mr. Englebart is a graduate electrical engineer and son of Mrs. Carl Englebart of Portland, Oregon. The wedding will take place in May.

Mr. and Mrs. James Shaw, of Whitinsville, Mass., announce the engagement of their daughter, Phyllis, to WOJG Daniel N. Weitzner, USA, son of Mrs. Rose Weitzner, of New York City.

Miss Shaw graduated from the School of Nursing at Worcester Memorial Hospital, Worcester, Mass., in 1945, and served in the Army Nurse Corps at Fort Belvoir, Va., and Lawson General Hospital, Atlanta. She is now a Graduate Anaesthetist at The Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore.

WOJG Weitzner attended Virginia Military Institute in 1936-37 and entered the Army at Ft. Crockett, Tex., in 1939. He served overseas four years with General Hospital No. 1, Bataan, Philippines, and is now stationed at the Second Army Area Medical Laboratory, Ft. George G. Meade, Md.

The wedding will take place in early summer at Whitinsville, Mass.

Miss Evelyn Fischer of Washington, D. C., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fischer of New Braunfels, Tex., was married at the Post Chapel, Ft. Myer, Va., 27 Jan., to Lt. Col. Walter Brown Richardson, also of Washington, son of Mrs. Stella B. Richardson of Beaumont, Tex., and the late Dr. W. P. Richardson.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father and attended only by her sister, Miss Esta Mae Fischer, wore a gown of white nylon over satin, designed with a fitted bodice and a bouffant skirt. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of seed pearls and she carried a white Prayer Book topped with a white orchid.

Attending Colonel Richardson as best man was Col. Royal Reynolds, and ushers were Col. F. Clay Bridgewater and Maj. George W. McIntyre.

Weddings and Engagements

was held at the home of Brig. Gen. George P. Tyner, USA-Ret., and Mrs. Tyner.

Colonel and Mrs. Richardson will be at home at 2800 Woodley Rd., Washington, after a short trip.

The bride attended Texas State College for Women and the bridegroom, Lamar College at Beaumont. Colonel Richardson was with the 3d Armored Division during World War II, and he is a graduate of the Command and General Staff College and the Armed Forces Staff College. He is on duty with the General Staff.

Miss Helen Maverick Bacon, daughter of Col. Stanley Bacon of Governors Island, N. Y., and Mrs. John Lapham of San Antonio, Tex., became the bride of Lt. Richard Gurney Hoffman, USA, son of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Hugh F. T. Hoffman of Fort Sam Houston, Tex., on 24 Jan. at Governors Island. The ceremony was performed by Chaplain Frederick E. Morse in St. Cornelius Chapel, and was followed by a reception at the Officers' Club.

The bride wore a ballerina-length gown of white faille and carried a colonial bouquet centered with talisman roses. Mrs. N. P. Freeman was her cousin's only attendant. General Hoffman was his son's best man. The ushers were Stanley Bacon, Jr. and James Pirtle. Miss Evelyn Case, of New York, sang "Oh Promise Me" and "Because."

Mrs. Hoffman attended Ogontz School in Philadelphia and Parsons School of Design. Lieutenant Hoffman attended Texas A & M for three years and was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy with the Class of 1950. Lieutenant Hoffman is the grandson of Col. and Mrs. S. C. Gurney of San Antonio.

Among those who attended the wedding were: Lt. Gen. and Mrs. W. D. Crittenberger, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. R. B. Woodruff, and Maj. Gen. and Mrs. E. M. Brannon.

After a honeymoon in New York, the couple will be at home at Fort Bragg, N. C., where Lieutenant Hoffman is stationed with the 82d Airborne Division.

The post chapel at the Presidio of San Francisco on 3 Feb. was the setting for the nuptials uniting Lt. James Luhn Sheehy, MC, stationed at Letterman Army Hospital, and Violet Jovisch of Sutter Creek, Calif.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her godfather, wore a ballerina length white lace gown, and a double tiered veil, held by a Juliet cap of matching lace. She carried a bouquet of bouvardia and orchids. Her only attendant was her sister Elva as Maid of Honor.

For his best man, Lt. Sheehy had Lt. John Stark, MC, who is also stationed at Letterman Army Hospital. John Wyville Sheehy, Jr., the groom's brother, and John Jovisch, brother of the bride, were ushers, as were Dr. Oliver Thomas and Dr. Herbert Schubert, classmates of Lt. Sheehy from Stanford School of Medicine. Harry Sheehy, Lt. Sheehy's other brother, who is at the Sacred Heart Novitiate in Los Gatos, was unable to be at the wedding.

The newlyweds cut the wedding cake with the West Point saber belonging to Lt. Sheehy's father, the late Col. John Wyville Sheehy.

The marriage of Miss Kathleen Van den Houten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Van den Houten, of Rensselaer, N. Y., to Frank Wesson England, of West Hartford, Conn., son of Col. George W. England, USA-RET., and Mrs. England, of 55 Arnoldale Rd., West Hartford, Conn., took place 20 Jan. at a solemn Nuptial Mass in the Church of the Holy Spirit, East Greenbush, N. Y.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of ivory chantilly lace and an illusion shoulder length veil on an ivory satin Juliet cap trimmed with tiny pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and orchids.

Miss Peggy Jane Van den Houten was maid of honor for her sister.

Lt. Col. Sanford P. England, Arty. USA, stationed at Maxwell Field, Ala., was best man for his brother. The ushers were James Van den Houten, III, of Rensselaer, N. Y., John Bidle of West Hartford and William F. More of Albany, N. Y.

Mrs. England is a graduate of Vincennes Institute and College of St. Rose, Albany, New York.

Mr. England was graduated from the Mohawk Country Day School in Schenectady, N. Y. He also attended Union College in that City, leaving in his Senior year as a Second Lieutenant of Infantry, U. S. Army, to serve in World War II, seeing service as a Captain of Infantry, in North Africa, Sicily and Italy. He graduated from Syracuse University, in 1947, and is a Captain of Infantry in the Organized Reserves. He is a member of the University Club of Albany, N. Y., and the Phi Gamma Delta Club of New York City. Mr. England is with the Aetna Casualty and Surety Co., in Boston, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. England are making their home at 86 Sherman Road, Chestnut Hill 67, Mass.

Miss Marcia B. Griffiths of Richmond, Ind., and M/Sgt. William H. Kelley III, also of Richmond, were married 3 Feb. at the Post Chapel, Fort McPherson, Ga. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. V. C. Griffiths, 201 S. 23d Street, Richmond. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Kelley, Jr., of that city. Chaplain (Maj.) R. H. Jungfer, Post Chaplain, performed the ceremony.

The bride was attired in a pink and navy suit, and carried a bouquet of pink orchids. She was given in marriage by Mr. W. A. Rodefelt, of Newcastle, Indiana, her brother-in-law. Attending the couple were Mrs. Rodefelt, the bride's sister, and Mr. J. P. Bacchus, of Atlanta, Ga.

Following the wedding, a reception-dinner was given at the Henry Grady Hotel, Atlanta, attended by Mrs. V. C. Griffiths, mother of the bride, Mrs. C. R. Hoffman, Miss Patricia Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Frazier, of Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Rodefelt, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Britt, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Bacchus, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Irvine and Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Williamson.

Both Sergeant Kelley and his wife are graduates of the Richmond Senior High School and the Earlham College there. Sgt. Kelley, who recently came on active duty from Reserve status, is assigned in the Classification and Assignment Division of the Third Army.

■ FT. BRAGG, N. C. The new Betty Grable-Dan Dailey movie musical "Call Me Mister" has a unique tie-in with the Army Air Support Center's new Warrant Officer (Jg) Edward J. Fosse. The former Master Sergeant not only received his Warrant and right to be called Mister during the run of the current movie, but his younger brother Bob starred in the Dan Dailey lead role in the road show version of the musical comedy.

"Call Me Mister, and it's about time," says Fosse. "After eight years of the Army, I catch up with my younger brother." Mr. Fosse is Maneuvers and Exercises Officer in the new Center set up by General Mark Clark, Chief of Army Field Forces, to act as the Army's principal coordinating agency in matters pertaining to joint air-ground operations in close support of ground troops.

■ JOHNSON AB, JAPAN. The Officers' Wives Club recently presented, for its annual March of Dimes party, a Wild West costume ball. Lining the ballroom was a hastily erected town consisting of a cafe, a saloon complete with sawdust, and a jail, whose guests paid fines for release—all proceeds turned over to March of Dimes. Total receipts were approximately $1,000.

Mrs. Roscoe Miller, chairman of the affair, wrote and directed a minstrel show, the featured attraction of the evening. Those in the cast were Medames Milvoy Benish, Don Bottenfield, A. S. Rosenthal, W. W. Rogers, George Kroman, Alan Blum, John Atherton, Frederick Larsen, Arnold Stoerts, David Trexler, Anthony Nunnamaker, Phillip Sisney, William Griffin, Ted Borst, Paul Milliken, D. M. Teeke, H. W. Baldridge, and Roscoe Miller. Lt. Barry Cool was the pianist.

Colonel and Mrs. Thomas B. Hall, Lt. and Mrs. A. Vincent, Captain George Lauman, Capt. Graydon Eubank, Capt. B. F. Sparks, and Lt. Carl Schmahlenberger won prizes for the best costumes.

Members of Mrs. Miller's committee were (Please turn to Next Page)

One of the Most Extraordinary Opportunities Ever Offered to

Retire to FLORIDA with an Income Now!

FACT NOT FANTASY—You may be dazzled by what you are about to learn, so keep in mind the fact that this wonderful new way of life can be yours at remarkably small cost! In LITTLEGROVES, Florida, a sunny year 'round paradise, you have a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to acquire five acres or more of rich, bearing citrus groves as a home site. Yes, your own full-grown orange and grapefruit trees, your own citrus grove—already on a paying basis!

INCOME WITHOUT WORK—Complete grove care taking, packing and sales facilities of the present owners are available to you. It's not necessary to lift so much as a finger in order to receive handsome returns from your groves. You will be an independent property owner, with an income you can count on year after year without any effort on your part.

A REWARD FOR BUILDING PROMPTLY—These tracts are designed as large homesites, not as business opportunities. And if you buy one of the ten tracts which have been set aside for this special offer, and build a home at least equal in value to the cost of your LITTLEGROVE, within six months from the date of purchase, half your purchase price will be refunded! Yes, we agree this is a fabulous opportunity! Whether you construct a small cottage or a handsome house, whether you settle down or just visit, you'll find LITTLEGROVES a desirable, comfortable, economical place to live.

LUXURY LIVING, ALMOST TAX FREE—Say goodbye to State income and inheritance taxes—you'll find none in Florida. Personal and real estate taxes are so low as to be almost non-existent, when you consider that homesteaded property (such as this) is exempt from ordinary State and County taxes up to an assessed valuation of $5,000. Add to those advantages, the conveniences of electricity, phone service, modern theatres, stores and transportation.

RECREATIONAL FACILITIES—Like fishing, swimming, hunting, tennis, golf, riding or yachting? All these sports and more at your front door! Located at Fort Myers, a growing city of 18,000 in southwest Florida, LITTLEGROVES is but 10 short miles from the fun-filled Gulf of Mexico and its famous beaches. Yes, for work or play, whether you come to stay or "get away," LITTLEGROVES is your big opportunity to enjoy life!

HERE'S WHAT YOU PAY—For as little as $2,750 you can purchase a five acre tract with bearing citrus trees; other tracts range up to $6,500. And remember those special offer tracts, priced from $5,500 to $6,500, where half the purchase price will be returned to you when you build a home equal to the cost of your property within six months! Five acre tracts without fruit-bearing trees may be acquired for as little as $1,000 to $2,500.

DON'T DELAY, ACT TODAY—The number of available tracts is definitely limited—act now! For more complete information and attractive illustrated booklet write to:

Brown, John E. Hall, William Williams, W. C. Stripling, Jr., K. J. Richens, William Ream, Jr., and Paul Paskaven.

WESTOVER AFB, MASS. The Officers Wives Club held their monthly luncheon recently, where after a brief business meeting, Mr. Hubert H. Kregeloh, noted news commentator, spoke on the "Current Crisis". Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. W. N. Hess, Mrs. W. M. Luse, Mrs. L. J. Neyland and Mrs. A. E. Sturges.

FT. MEADE, MD. Col. Thomas J. Cross, Assistant Chief of Staff, G-3, Second Army, was promoted to the temporary rank of brigadier general here on 13 Feb. The ceremony, in which his wife, Mrs. Florence Edna Cross, pinned the silver star insignia of a general officer on his uniform, took place in the office of the Army Commander, Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, USA. Present at the ceremony were General Van Fleet, Maj. Gen. Clift Andrus, USA, Deputy Army Commander, and members of the Second Army staff.

BETHESDA, MD. The Navy Doctors' Wives' Club of Washington, D. C., recently held its monthly luncheon at the National Naval Medical Center. The guest of honor, Rear Adm. Lamont Pugh, MC, USN, Surgeon General of the Navy, gave an interesting talk about some of the history and a few of the important matters pertaining to the Navy Medical Corps.

Mrs. R. M. Gillett, President of the Club, welcomed Mrs. Pugh as the new Honorary President of the Club, and Mrs. Clarence J. Brown, wife of the Deputy to the Surgeon General, as the new honorary Vice-President. Both of these charming ladies were presented with beautiful corsages of red and white carnations.

Mrs. James Crawford and her committee used the Valentine motif for their table decorations and really excelled in their artistic ability. Mrs. I. L. V. Norman was in charge of the program.

CLARK AFB, PHILIPPINES. Latest thing in Philippine tours for members of the Officers Wives Club is a trip to the Pampana Sugar Mill. Twenty members of the OWC were able to visit the sugar processing plant at Del Carmen, Pampana through the efforts of Mrs. Joe L. Dukes and Mrs. George E. Schonen, and with the cooperation of Mr. O. H. Dirshimer, general manager of the mill.

During the tour, the wives witnessed most of the processes involved in making sugar, from the time truckloads of sugar cane were mechanically chopped and pressed to the final crystallization step.

ARMY MEDICAL CENTER, WASHINGTON, D. C. Maj. Gen. Paul H. Streit, MC, USA, Commanding General, recently presented checks to the Army Emergency Relief and the Air Force Aid Society on behalf of the AMC Annual Contribution Campaign of 1950. Maj. Gen. E. M. Foster, USA, Army Chief of Finance, received $2,300 for the AER, and Col. F. E. Cheate, USAF, was presented $500 for the AFAS.

Latest figures from the annual post fund campaign show a total of $17,413.61 collected this year as opposed to $12,934.55 in 1949.

YOKOHAMA. At an impressive ceremony on 1 Feb. Col. Mose Kent, Inspector General, Yokohama Command, was awarded a Certificate of Achievement in recognition of faithful and efficient performance of military duty. Brig. Gen. E. D. Post, Commanding General, presented the award.

Colonel Kent, who is retiring after 37 years of active duty with the Army, has been the recipient of many awards including the Legion of Merit and the Chinese Cloud and Banner while serving in China, and the Bronze Star Medal received in the battle of the Meuse-Argonne. First serving three years as an enlisted man, Colonel Kent received a direct commission into the Regular Army as a 2d Lt. in 1917.

Colonel Kent's wife, Mrs. Marie Sawyer Kent is presently in Yokohama. Upon returning to the Zone of the Interior they plan to live in Phoenix, Ariz.

ANNAPOLIS, MD. Lt. Col. Howard J. Connelly, USMC, Welfare and Recreation Officer at the Naval Academy, and Maj. Bethell Edgington, USA, of the Executive Department, entertained at the Officers Club recently for 200 guests.

Rear Adm. Charles R. Brown returned to London last week after a week in the States. While here, he was the guest for part of the time of Mrs. Nicholas H. Green of Charles St., Mrs. Brown's mother.

Capt. and Mrs. James P. Compton entertained Saturday, 10 Feb., in their home on South River, Rear Adm. and Mrs. Charles Erck gave a cocktail party last week in their new home at Ferry Farms. Maj. Conrad Grove, USMC-Ret., and Mrs. Grove have returned to their home at Dunedin, Fla.

Capt. and Mrs. Fred W. Walton, formerly of Washington, are now occupying quarters at the Engineering Experiment Station. Captain Walton succeeded Rear Adm. W. D. Leggett as Director of the Station.

Capt. and Mrs. George W. Patterson entertained at cocktails, 10 Feb., in their home at Wardour.

GUNTER AFB, ALA. The USAF Extension Course Institute has set a new high in achievement during January. Records were established in the number of new enrollments, amount of mail handled, and number of courses mailed students. Total active enrollment at the end of January stood at 27,500, the highest active enrollment to date. This new figure is six and a half per cent greater than December's enrollment. Another increase was shown in the monthly rate of new applications which went 62 per cent over December's rate.

The Extension Course Institute's mail section set a new record by handling over 33,000 individual pieces of mail exclusive of bulk shipments. This figure beat December's mail load by 49 per cent. Including bulk shipments and form letters the entire mail load for the month totaled well over 40,000 pieces, a new monthly high. It is noteworthy that with the tremendous increase in mail load, correspondence errors at the Institute averaged only .02 per cent, the lowest error rate recorded here.

WIESBADEN MILITARY POST. Mrs. Lauris Norstad, wife of USAFE's newly appointed Commander-in-Chief, Mrs. R. F. Tate, wife of the new USAFE Assistant Chief of Staff, Operations, and Mrs. William T. Thurman, wife of USAFE's newly designated Deputy Chief of Staff, were honored at a luncheon this week by the Officers Wives Club at the Neroberg Officers Club. The honored guests were introduced personally to all regular members and newcomers by Mrs. V. O. Rogers, club president.

STRAUBING, GERMANY. A total of $1,043 and DM 2,043 have been expended during the past five months by the Straubing Women's Welfare Group on food and clothing for needy German families and orphans. The money was raised from cake sales, bingo, county fairs, dances, card games and coffees sponsored by the ladies of the Welfare Group, which is a composite of 6th Arm. Cav. and Straubing Sub-Post ladies. In addition to the work of the Welfare, the Straubing Rod and Gun Club held rabbit drives and donated the game to Straubing orphanages and old people's homes.

Functioning not only for German relief, the Welfare ladies held a bridge and canasta recently at the home of Mrs. George A. Rehm, the $69 proceeds of which will be given to the March of Dimes.

ABERDEEN PROVING GROUND, MD. The annual March of Dimes drive officially ended 31 Jan. That fact hasn't stopped Aberdeen Proving Ground contributions. To date $9832.75 has been collected, a new record here for any drive.

Maj. Gen. E. E. MacMorland, USA, commanding general, expressed gratification at the over-all result. Lt. Col. Thomas A. Rice was drive chairman for the post.

FORT JACKSON, S. C. Highlighting the recent social activities was the reception held 4 Feb. honoring Maj. Gen. Harry J. Collins, post and Eighth Infantry Division Commander, and Mrs. Collins and Maj. Gen. Alexander G. Paxton, 31st Infantry Division Commander, and Mrs. Paxton. The guests were greeted by Capt. John B. Wine, aldehyde-camp, who presented them to the commanding general.

OFFUTT AFB, NEBR. Mrs. William Gillespie, wife of Lt. Col. Gillespie was elected president of the Officers Wives Club at a recent meeting. Mrs. Curtis E. LeMay, wife of the Strategic Air Command's Commanding General, is the honorary president and will serve on the executive committee with Mrs. John B. Montgomery and Mrs. Lee B. Washbourne.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Pinkham Smith, first vice president; Mrs. Roscoe Rector, second vice president; Mrs. William McKelvey, recording secretary; Mrs. Van B. Parker, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Henry N. Moore, treasurer, and Mrs. Anthony Quesada, assistant treasurer.

Stedley, John C. Doherty, Wm. L. Conley, Fritz, Molter, Randall Boyd, Maurice F. Weisner, David M. Rubel, H. W. Calhoun, Victor Rowney, E. A. Malcom and Gale S. Felton.

DAVIS-MONTHAN AFB, ARIZ. Col and Mrs. Charles E. Marion entertained 20 guests recently in honor of Col. and Mrs. J. K. Hester. Col. and Mrs. Alvan Moore have as their guests Mrs. Moore's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wixon of Coldwater, Mich.

On 3 Feb. Chaplain (Maj.) and Mrs. John M. Hughes entertained in honor of the personnel of the Chaplains section in their patio, with a pre-lenten steak-fry. Those present were Chaplain (Maj.) William E. Powers, Chaplain (Capt.) Christopher J. Hinckley, Chaplain (Capt.) and Mrs. Aaron Baccus and family, Chaplain (1st Lt.) and Mrs. Dallas Bird and family, S/Sgt. and Mrs. Robert Smith, Sgt. and Mrs. Andrew Davis, and Sgt. Richard Meddock.

VANCOUVER BARRACKS, WASH. Many of the ranking military officers of the Pacific Northwest and distinguished civic leaders of the Portland-Vancouver area attended the Formal Activation Ceremonies of the Organized Reserve Corps School held here recently. Officiating at the opening ceremony were Col. John H. Rodman, commanding the Oregon Military District and Vancouver Barracks, and Col. Carlo Piluso, Commandant of the School. Principal speakers for the occasion were Brig. Gen. Leroy H. Watson, Commanding General, Fort Lewis, Washington, and Dr. Harry K. Newburn, President of the University of Oregon. Others who participated in the opening exercises were: Maj. Gen. Thomas E. Rilea, Adjutant General of Oregon; Brig. Gen. Lilburn E. Stevens, Adjutant General of Washington, and Colonel John R. Culleton, Chief of the OCR Division, Sixth Army Headquarters.

The Army-Navy League held their monthly luncheon meeting 5 Feb. attended by approximately 100 ladies of the Portland-Vancouver area. President, Mrs. Owen Summers, wife of Brig. Gen. Owen Summers, USA-Ret., presided and introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Louis E. Caywood, Archeologist for the National Park Service who spoke on the subject of the restoration of old Fort Vancouver. Mr. Mark Bowman, Director of Red Cross activities in Portland, also spoke to the membership concerning the Red Cross Program.

FT. KNOX, KY. Secretary of the Army Frank Pace, Army Field Forces Commander General Mark W. Clark and Second Army Commander Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet visited Fort Knox last week to view training methods at the Armored Center and in the Third Armored (training) Division. They were conducted on a tour of the post by Brig. Gen. Thomas L. Harrold, Fort Knox commandant, and Brig. Gen. Raymond E. S. Williamson, commanding general of the Third Armored Division. General Clark, Mr. Pace and General Harrold addressed some 1,500 new Army recruits at Sadowski Fieldhouse and said they were impressed with the health of the troops and with the training and handling of them.

Lt. Col. William L. Nash has been elected vice president of the Fort Knox Rod and Gun Club. Named secretary-treasurer was Lt. Col. Cecil Himes. Col. Ryle A. Radke continues as president. The election came at the club's annual banquet attended, despite bad weather, by about 200 persons. Guest speaker was Col. John C. Macdonald, Fort Knox chief of staff.

NEW YORK POE. The 1951 March of Dimes Campaign was brought to a successful close 9 Feb. According to Maj. Royal Wilson, Post Special Services Officer, Chairman of this year's drive, total contributions amounted to $3,000.

CORRECTION

In last week's issue the report of the death of Lt Comdr William R McDowell, Jr, USN, was in error. The notice came to THE JOURNAL in the Navy's weekly list of casualties on the active list, but it is now reported that Lieutenant Commander McDowell was injured and that he is now recovering.

The Journal also has been advised that Lt Comdr Ralph M Bagwell, USN, whose name came from the same source, was erroneously listed in our issue of 20 Jan, as having died. Commander Bagwell was forced down behind enemy lines on 12 Dec., and was last observed being marched away by the Chinese Reds. He is officially listed as captured by the enemy.

Obituaries

Brig. Gen. M. C. Shallenberger, USA-Ret.

Brig. Gen. Martin Conrad Shallenberger, USA-Ret, 64, died of a heart attack on 12 Feb, at his home at Harrods Creek, Louisville, Ky.

The son of the late Ashton Shallenberger, former Governor and Congressman of Nebraska, General Shallenberger was commissioned in the Army from the National Guard in 1908. He was former aide-de-camp to General of the Armies John J Pershing when the latter commanded the American Expeditionary Forces in Europe during World War I. Between the two World Wars, he served as Military Attache to Portugal, Greece, Yugoslavia, Austria and Hungary. After 38 years of military service, he was retired from active duty in 1946, the holder of the Distinguished Service Medal, the Legion of Merit with Oak Leaf Cluster and the Silver Star, as well as the Austrian and Hungarian Orders of Merit.

Since his retirement, General and Mrs.

Shallenberger have made their home at Harrods Creek, Louisville.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Ina Hamilton Dowdy Shallenberger, he is survived by one daughter, Sara, now Mrs. W. L. Lyons Brown; and one son, Martin C. Shallenberger, Jr., at present in Austria.

Services were held at St-Francis-in-the-Field Church, 14 February, with burial at the Zachary Taylor National Cemetery, Louisville.

Brig. Gen. James R. Alfonte, USA-Ret.

Brig. Gen. James R. Alfonte, QMC, USA-Ret., died at Walter Reed Army Hospital on 8 Feb.

General Alfonte was responsible for the construction of the first cantonment at Ft. Benning, Ga., in 1939, and for the first jump tower built at the Fort in 1941. He served as Chief, Clothing and Equipage Branch, Office of The Quartermaster General in Washington, D. C., in 1942.

Born in Alford, Ind., 7 Dec. 1886, he attended Purdue University in Indiana, and was commissioned a second lieutenant of Infantry 7 Oct. 1911.

General Alfonte, who held Military Pilot's License No. 78, entered the Army Industrial College in Washington, D. C., in 1931 and upon graduation the following year was assigned as Chief of General Supplies Branch, Office of The Quartermaster General, Washington. In July 1935 he went to Corozal, Panama Canal Zone, as Depot Quartermaster. Returning to the United States in 1937 he took a course at the Army War College, upon completion of which he became Quartermaster of the Infantry School, Ft. Benning, Ga. In September 1939 he became also Constructing Quartermaster.

In January 1942 he became Quartermaster of the Fourth Corps Area with headquarters at Atlanta. In June 1942 he was assigned as Chief of the Clothing and Equipage Branch, Office of The Quartermaster General. Next year he was named as Commanding General, New Cumberland Army Service Forces Depot, New Cumberland, Md., which post he held until assigned to command the Utah Army Service Forces Depot, Ogden, Utah. General Alfonte retired 31 Aug. 1946.

General Alfonte is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary G. R. Alfonte, residing at 3812 Kanawha Street, NW, Washington; a daughter, Mrs. H. L. Graham, Jr., living with her mother; a son, Capt. James M. Alfonte, West Point, N. Y., and four brothers, Col. William A. Alfonte of Sonoma, Calif.; Col. Dallas Alfonte of Bryan, Tex., and C. C. Alfonte and C. W. Alfonte, Alford, Ind.

Funeral services were held at Ft. Myer Chapel on 12 Feb. Burial was in Arlington National Cemetery.

Capt. and Mrs. Jesse W. Miller

Funeral services with interment were held 7 Feb. at NeHawka, Nebr., for Capt. Jesse Walter Miller, MC, USN, Executive Officer of the Naval Hospital, Charleston, S. C., and his wife, the former Velma Pauline Wessel of NeHawka, Nebr., whose deaths occurred on the night of 2 Feb. as a result of a fire which destroyed their home, Quarters "B," on the hospital grounds.

Captain Miller was born 14 Apr. 1903 at Denton, Nebr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miller. He attended Teachers College High School and the University of Nebraska in Lincoln, Nebr., where he received his A.B., B.S., and M.D. degrees. He was commissioned a lieutenant (jg), Medical Corps, U. S. Navy, on 7 June 1927. He has served at many of the Naval Hospitals throughout the United States, on ships of the Active Fleet, and on foreign shore. In 1944 he was the Executive Officer of Naval Base Hospital, Number 12, Southampton, England. For outstanding service while at this station of duty he received a Letter of Commendation from the Secretary of the Navy. Later he was assigned as Staff Medical Officer on the Staff of the Commander, Naval Forces, European Area, and still later, as the Staff Medical Officer, on the Staff of the Commander, Naval Forces, Germany. In 1942-43 he served as Executive Officer of the Naval Dispensary, Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

Surviving are their two children, a daughter, Suzanne Lee, age 20, and son Jack Wessel, age 17, and members of the immediate families in Denton and NeHawka.

Capt. Robert I. Starr, Inf., USA

A telegram has been received by Mrs. Betty Lee Starr of 2339 11th St., N., Arlington, Va., notifying her that her husband, Capt. Robert I. Starr, Inf., USA, was killed in action in Korea on 26 Jan.

Captain Starr was born at Hampton, Va. He was graduated from Woodrow Wilson High School and attended Millard's Preparatory School, both in Washington, D. C., entering the U. S. Military Academy in 1942.

Upon graduation, he served with the First Cavalry Division on occupation duty in Japan until 1948, and for two years thereafter was at Ft. Riley, Kans., where he was an instructor with the Army Officers' Candidate School. He arrived in Korea as Commanding Officer of Headquarters Co., IX Corps, 1 Oct. 1950, and in November was transferred to the 1st Cavalry Division. At the time of his death, he was commanding Company "B" of the 8th Cavalry.

Besides his widow, Captain Starr is survived by one son, Robert I. Starr, Jr.; his father, Brig. Gen. Rupert E. Starr, USA-Ret., of Gloucester, Va.; and one brother, Richard E. Starr, of Mill Valley, Calif.

Mrs. Starr is the daughter of Col. Bernard N. Riordan, USA, and Mrs. Riordan of Arlington.

Col. Charles Beatty Moore, USA-Ret.

Friends of Col. Charles Beatty Moore, USA-Ret., and Mrs. Moore, will be saddened to learn of the death of Colonel Moore at Texarkana, Tex., on 26 January.

Colonel Moore, who was a native of Arkansas, graduated from the U. S. Military Academy in 1903. He served in France during World War I, and in the early '30s was Military Attache at the U. S. Embassy in Paris for four years. After attending the Army War College in 1935, he was assigned to the Intelligence Div. of the War Department General Staff. Colonel Moore retired in 1936, but was recalled to active duty in 1941.

Colonel and Mrs. Moore were widely known for their interest in colonial history and the preservation of antiquities. They purchased the old George William Fairfax house on Prince Street in Alexandria, Va., in 1929, and their restoration of the old home led others to the realization of the colonial charm of Alexandria's historic residences.

Colonel Moore was president of the Texas Cotton Oil Corp., and the Red River Levee District No. 1, and vice president of the Berman and Pharr Wholesale Hardware Co., all of Texas.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Gay Montague Moore, who is the author of a book about Alexandria entitled "Seaport in Virginia." She is the daughter of the late Gov. Andrew Jackson Montague of Richmond, Va.

Graveside services were held 13 Feb. at the cemetery of Christ Church at Urbana, Va.

Brig. Gen. George T. Bowman, USA-Ret.

Brig. Gen. George T. Bowman, USA-Ret., 81, died of a heart attack, 14 February, at his home at Shrewsbury, N. J.

General Bowman entered the military service as a captain with the 65th New York Infantry Volunteers, 17 May 1898. He completed the tour in November of that year, at which time, he was assigned to the 36th Infantry, U. S. Volunteers and served in the Spanish-American War and Philippine Insurrection under General Arthur MacArthur. He was later on duty with the 15th Cavalry at Zamboanga, Jimenez, Mindanao and the Philippines, taking part in the expedition at Maciu Peninsula and in fighting against the Malano Moros. He served at a number of posts in the United States and Mexico until the outbreak of World War I, during which time he served with General John J. Pershing at General Headquarters of the American Expeditionary Forces in Europe. He graduated from the Army War College in 1922 and from the Naval War College the following year, later serving on the faculty of the Army War College. At the time of his retirement from active duty, in 1933 he was Chief of Staff of the 62d Cavalry.

General Bowman's decorations included those of the U. S. Distinguished Marksman, the Philippine Insurrection, the Mexico Punitive Expedition, the Spanish American War, the Army of Cuban Pacification, the World War I with Battle stars, the Army of Occupation in Germany, the Distinguished Service medal and the French Legion of Honor.

General Bowman has spent the last few years at Shrewsbury in the shadow of the Army's Signal Corps post, Ft. Monmouth. He took all his meals at the Officers' Club at the post, and was friend and counsellor of many Signal Corps officers, young and old.

His wife, Mrs. Lillian Burrows Bowman, died in 1896, and his only son, named for General Pershing, Lt. John Bowman, USA, who was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy with top honors, was killed in a plane crash in line of duty in October 1929.

Burial with full military honors will take place, Monday, 19 Feb. at Arlington National Cemetery at 3:00 P.M.

Col. Raynor Garey, USA-Ret.

While on a vacation at St. Petersburg, Fla., Col. Raynor Garey, USA-Ret, suffered a heart attack which resulted in his death on 4 Feb.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Hallie Kay Garey of North East, Md.; two sons, both of whom are cadets at the U. S. Military Academy, George Frye Garey and Raynor Garey, Jr.; four sisters, Mrs. Alan Norris of Penn Yan, N. Y., Miss Lois Gary of North East, Mrs. Alvin Newmeyer of Havre de Grace, Md., and Mrs. Otis McCauley of North East; and one brother, Mr. George A. Garey of Wilmington, N. C.

Funeral services were held at St. Mary Anne's Episcopal Church at North East, 7 February, with interment at the North East Cemetery.

Prefabricated Units

The ability of prefabricated housing industry to provide quality dwelling units in quantity for the Armed Forces, as well as civilian government activities and industry, is being emphasized in a campaign sponsored by the Prefabricated Home Manufacturers' Institute, 908 Twentieth Street, N.W., Washington 6, D. C.

Mr. James R. Price, president of the Institute, states, "We want everyone concerned with the nation's housing in any way, government or private industry, to know of our productive capacities and of the services the prefabrication industry can provide."

Prefabrication, Mr. Price said, holds a practical, economical answer to the critical housing needs. He said the industry is:

Geared to produce single or multiple housing in quantity;

Equipped to produce comfortable, efficient housing at low cost;

Staffed and tooled to produce durable housing at a saving of vital materials and manpower, with plants situated to deliver housing quickly in virtually any section of the United States.

The 38 member firms of PHMI, representing nearly all of those concerned in the manufacture of prefabricated housing, are scattered throughout the United States and Canada. They can point to such industry-wide accomplishments as:

1—Development and production of panel-type construction, now universally used by large merchant builders and prefabricators;

2—Further progress toward general acceptance of dry wall construction techniques;

3—The updating of many obsolete building codes;

4—Extensive use of standardized components to bring down the cost of homes;

5—Organization of house components into fewer assemblies and sub-assemblies;

6—An accelerated program of large-scale planned developments. For government and industrial officials, Price said, prefabricated housing can promise the following:

Quality construction that meets all mortgage lenders' standards for FHA-VA-insured loans;

Speedier manufacture and erection;

Lower delivered price per square foot;

Lower man-hour erection costs;

Skilled erection crews;

Extensive dealer service organizations for service and maintenance.

Navy Test Lab

Two contracts totaling over $1,000,000 have been awarded by the Navy Bureau of Yards and Docks in connection with the construction of the Naval Aeronautical Turbine Laboratory, Trenton, N. J.

The Benjamin Lessner Company, Inc., Philadelphia, Pa., was given a contract to design, construct, and install air valves and controls in the laboratory with a bid of $945,000. Completion date has been set at around 8 Jan. 1952.

The American Hydrotherm Corporation, Long Island City, N. Y., will manufacture and install exhaust gas coolers for a turbo prop cell. The winning bid was $220,600. Completion set at 400 days.

The performance test laboratory is one of the largest of its kind in the world. When completed, it will run tests at simulated altitudes up to 65,000 feet. Seven motors will furnish the 28,000 horsepower required to operate the equipment.

Mariner Ships

Contracts for approximately $200,000,000 have been let to five shipyards for construction of 25 Mariner class ships, the new high-speed transports to replace the Liberty and Victory ships of World War II.

The contracts, each for about $40,000,000 for five ships, went to the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co., Va.; Ingalls Shipbuilding Corp., Pascagoula, Miss.; Bethlehem Steel Co., Sparrows Point, Md.; Bethlehem Steel Co., Quincy, Mass., and the Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corp., Chester, Pa.

Congress has authorized expenditure of $350,000,000 for ships of this class, which will be 525 feet long with a cargo capacity of 12,500 tons and a speed of 20 knots.

Vice Adm. E. L. Cochrane, USN-Ret., Maritime Administrator, has declared that the speedier vessels are essential because of the increasing danger from fast submarines.

To Operate Arsenal

The Ravenna, Ohio, Arsenal, one of the Army's largest shell and bomb loading plants during World War II, is to be operated by Firestone Tire and Rubber Co.

Preliminary agreement for this operation has been made by the Army Ordnance Corps and tentative date for Firestone to assume operating responsibility is 1 Apr.

Several months ago, Firestone made a survey of the work necessary to reactivate the Ravenna Arsenal and rendered an industrial mobilization planning report to the Ordnance Corps. Since then, Firestone personnel have been working with Ordnance Corps officials in preparing the Arsenal for reactivation.

The Ravenna Arsenal was one of the largest artillery shell and bomb loading installations in the country during World War II.

Col. Crehan Appointed

Col. John P. Crehan, USA-Ret., has been appointed division manager for greater Oklahoma for the firm of Waddell and Reed, Inc., an investment company with main offices in New York and Kansas City. The company is principal underwriters for and distributors of United Funds, a mutual fund organization.

Colonel Crehan entered the Army in World War I, winning a permanent commission. He was retired in 1947. During World War II he served in the Southwest Pacific where he was presented the Legion of Merit by General MacArthur. For subsequent duty in the United States he was awarded the Army Commendation Medal with three clusters.

He is widely known in Oklahoma where he served for more than five years with the 45th Division as artillery instructor for the 158th Field Artillery and the 160th Field Artillery. He also was graduated from the Field Artillery School and served with the School troops at Ft. Sill. He now makes his home in Oklahoma City where his principal offices will be maintained.

Merchant Fleet

The privately-owned and operated American merchant fleet increased by 25 ships of 304,000 deadweight tons during January, bringing the total of such vessels to 1,202 of 14,333,000 deadweight tons by 1 Feb., National Federation of American Shipping reported this week.

In its monthly report on the status of the American merchant fleet, the Federation noted the sale of 138 ocean-going merchant type vessels for private U. S. flag operation from the Federal Maritime Administration between late December and mid-January. Of this number, however, 22 cargo ships and one tanker vessel were actually transferred to private owners, the remaining 115 on which contracts of sale were signed still are in process of being transferred. In addition, during January, two new vessels were added from construction, the Independence of American Export Lines, and a new super tanker.

The Federation noted that at the beginning of the month there were 186 vessels scheduled to continue in bareboat charter operation from the Federal Maritime Administration, 11 more than on 1 Jan. Total vessels in the National Defense Reserve Fleet, excluding barges, tugs, concrete ships, etc., decreased from 2,048 to 1,952 during the month.

Schenley Names Gen. Casey

Maj. Gen. Hugh J. Casey, USA-Ret., former chief engineer for General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, has joined Schenley Laboratories, Inc., as assistant to the president.

General Casey, who became executive vice president of the Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia following his retirement from active duty with the Army in 1949, will work closely with Brig. Gen. E. F. Jeffe, executive vice president of Schenley Laboratories, in top-management functions for the pharmaceutical concern.

U. S. Coast Guard

CAPT. Milton R. Daniels, USCG, who will be 62 years old on 25 Feb., will be retired as commanding officer of the Coast Guard Yard, Curtis Bay, Md., on 1 March.

A testimonial dinner and dance will be given in Captain Daniels' honor on 22 Feb. at the Hotel Emerson in Baltimore.

Appointed to the Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., in 1910, where he returned as superintendent of engineering from 1925 to 1928 and as instructor in engineering and acting superintendent from 1930-1933, Captain Daniels was named Assistant District Coast Guard Officer at Boston, Mass., in October 1943.

He was transferred to duty as District Coast Guard Officer, 4th Naval District, Philadelphia, 5 July 1945, serving in that capacity until 26 Aug. 1946, when he began his current tour of duty at the Coast Guard Yard, Curtis Bay, Md., as industrial and executive officer.

Coast Guard officials said this week that no order has yet been issued naming Captain Daniels' successor.

Cutter Cherry In Rescue

The Coast Guard Cutter Cherry, smashing through thawing ice, on 11 Feb. rescued about 200 trapped ice fishermen on Lake Erie. Chief Boatswain's Mate

George Legault is commanding officer of the cutter.

Additional Life Preservers

Rear Adm. Louis B. Olson, USCG, Commander of the Coast Guard's Eastern Area and Third District, this week issued an important reminder to all owners and operators of motorboats and motor vessels carrying passengers for hire, regardless of the waters in which they operate. Effective Saturday, 17 Feb., the following regulation will be put in effect: "Motorboats which carry passengers for hire shall be provided with an approved life preserver for each person carried, and with an additional number of approved life preservers suitable for children, equal to at least 10 per cent of the total number of persons carried."

Buick to Build Jets

Buick Motor Division of General Motors Corporation has announced it had been designated as a prime contractor by the Air Force to produce the British-designed J-65 Sapphire jet engine for use in American fighter and bomber planes.

A facilities letter contract in the amount of $25,000,000 was received by Buick 12 Feb.

Ivan L. Wiles, Buick general manager and vice president of General Motors, said the letter contract covered the manufacture and acquisition of machinery and equipment necessary to produce the jet engine in volume quantities.

No details of the size of the supply contract were released but Mr. Wiles disclosed it would be "the largest single defense contract Buick had ever received."

During World War II Buick built more than $1,000,000,000 worth of war equipment for the Government, including 74-791 Pratt and Whitney bomber engines.

Wiles said Buick would produce the engine under license from Wright Aeronautical Division of Curtiss-Wright Corporation. Curtiss-Wright holds the American patents on the Sapphire engine, and Buick currently is negotiating with it for sublicensing agreement.

The engine will be used in the Republic F-84F Thunderjets. General Motors has a contract for building F-84 Thunderjets in its Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac assembly plant at Kansas City, Kans.

The J-65 is rated one of the most powerful and efficient jet engines in the world. It has 7,200 pounds thrust, greater than the power developed by all four propeller engines on a B-29 or Stratocruiser.

It was developed by the Armstrong Siddeley Company of England and has successfully passed 150 hours of flight tests in British bombers and fighter planes. It weighs 2,500 pounds and is slightly more than 12 feet long.

The Air Force's new swept-wing fighter-bomber, the Republic F-84F, successfully completed on 14 Feb. its first flight powered by the British-designed, axial-flow "Sapphire" jet engine rated at 7,200 pounds of thrust. The aircraft took off from Edwards AFB, Muroc, Calif., and remained aloft for approximately 50 minutes.

Production models of the F-84F will be powered by British designed Sapphires built in America by the Wright Aeronautical Corp., Wood-Ridge, N. J., and by Buick.

Cataloging of Gages

Development of military standards and cataloging which will reduce to 187,000 catalog items the more than 1,000,000 descriptions of commercial-type plug and ring gages previously used by the Armed Forces, was announced by the Munitions Board this week.
